

CONDITION OF POPE
PIUS X UNCHANGEDPontiff Passed a Comparatively
Calm Night — Occasionally
Disturbed by Coughing

Rome, April 10.—The condition of Pope Pius X was said to be practically unchanged when his physician, Prof. Ettore Marchisfava, paid him an early morning visit today. He had passed a comparatively calm night, although disturbed occasionally by fits of coughing and a period of great perspiration at about midnight. The pope's spirits were cheered by bright weather but he continued to feel some nausea and was averse to taking nourishment, notwithstanding the efforts of his own cook, Stefano Inghestrà, who came with him from Venice. Prof. Marchisfava said after his morning visit that he considered the unchanged conditions as on the whole favorable for the patient.

The only specific apprehension is heart weakness. Dr. Amiel, who spent the night at the pope's bedside said this morning that his patient rested sufficiently well. The temperature is now a little above 97.

Dr. Amiel denied the persistent reports that the pope is suffering from nephritis and reiterated that the whole trouble is a relapse from his recent attack of influenza.

In all the churches of Rome this morning special prayers were offered for the recovery of the pope and the congregations recited with the clergy the "Oremus Pro Pontifice Nostro."

Dr. Amiel said today that he hopes by next week Pius X would be convalescent. An entirely contrary opinion, however, is expressed by some of those immediately surrounding the pope, who depict the situation as grave. They assert that as a result of an examination made by a specialist the presence of albumen was proved.

The sisters and niece of the pope remained with him three hours this morning.

Just before eleven Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state entered the bedchamber and the pope, who said in reply to the cardinal's inquiry that he felt relieved, expressed regret that he would be unable to see the pilgrims who had come from Venice.

A party of 800 Polish pilgrims arrived today and went to the Vatican. As they were not allowed to see the pope they marched around the piazza in procession chanting prayers. Many of the pilgrims were peasants wearing their national costumes but there were also many members of the Polish nobility and even some Polish princes among them. The princes were admitted to the papal ante-chamber, where they were informed of the latest news of the pope's health.

Fifth Day of Car Strike
in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 10.—The fifth day of the strike of the International R. R. Co.'s motormen and conductors began with the entire city and interurban service still practically suspended and the railroad officials demanding from both civil and military authorities reinforcements for the 2,000 National Guardsmen now on duty here. The utmost secrecy was maintained regarding Mayor Fuhrmann's negotiations with the strikers and street car company for the appointment of a board of arbitration to settle the questions of wages and hours for which the men are fighting. Neither Mayor Fuhrmann nor the strike leaders would even admit that the propositions being considered by the men came directly from the railroad officials although it was generally recognized such was the fact and it was believed the executive committee of the strikers would pass on them and probably submit counter proposals at another meeting in the mayor's office at noon.

The advisability of calling a general strike of the allied union men in Buffalo in sympathy with the striking carmen will be considered at a general meeting of the 150 labor organizations here tonight, according to John Coleman, business agent of the United Trades and Labor council.

Magnus Sinclair of Toronto, Canadian organizer of the street carmen's organization, and W. B. Fitzgerald, international organizer, both admitted today the possibility of a general sympathetic strike.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, on the long distance telephone, has assured W. D. Mahon, president of the carmen's association, that the national federation endorsed the carmen's strike, according to a statement given out today.

NO TELEPHONE
STRIKE IN HUBAgreement Reached This Morning
After All Night Conference Between Operators and the Company

BOSTON, April 10.—A strike of the 2,000 telephone operators in the 34 central exchanges of Greater Boston which has been threatened for the past few days was averted, it is believed, by an agreement reached early today. The agreement is the result of a compromise.

It was arrived at after a series of intermittent conferences lasting thirty hours between President Spaulding and other officials of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., the executive committee of the operators' union and a committee from the Boston chamber of commerce which acted as intermediary.

Although the girls' committee subscribed to the agreement, formal ratification by the mass of operators is necessary. Meetings will be held tomorrow for this work.

Instead of the weekly wage increases averaging $1 each, which the union demanded, the agreement provides for the establishment by the plan of anniversary payments to its women operators in the Boston Metropolitan district. These payments, according to the agreement, are to be $25 at the end of the second year, $50 at the end of the third year, and thereafter up to and including the ninth year; and $100 at the end of the tenth year and each year thereafter.

The so-called split trick, the abolition of which was demanded, will not be compulsory upon any operator after 15 months' service.

Lunch Period Extended

The lunch period will be extended to one hour and the girls "will have the maximum number of holidays, Sundays and Saturday afternoons off that is consistent with the requirements of the service." These concessions are effective June 1.

The agreement also provides for the creation of an adjustment committee consisting of three operators and three representatives of the company, which is to consider all grievances. An appeal may be had to the general manager or to the president of the company. This committee will be established April 21. The conferees were weary when the understanding finally was completed. President James Storow of the chamber of commerce, after sitting as an informal court over earlier conferences at which both sides discussed the matter, later acted as messenger in carrying proposals, first from one side and again from the other.

Fall Asleep Standing

The girls remarked during a walk through the hotel corridors that they were "ready to fall asleep standing up." The men were heavily lidded and almost dozing. It was said when the settlement was reached, then the company provided taxi-cabs to send its erstwhile prospective strike leaders to their homes, after President Spaulding had excused the girls from attendance at the switchboards.

Before going, the girls declared "we have won" and were not contradicted by company officials who were standing nearby. In behalf of President Spaulding, E. K. Hall, vice president of the company, said: "The adjustment seems unusually satisfactory." Both sides stated that the result was due largely to the good offices of the chamber of commerce, Mayor Fitzgerald, and the state board of conciliation and arbitration. They had interested themselves in preventing a strike when it seemed that the city's business life would be crippled by a suspension of its telephone service.

The moment a strike was threatened the company followed its first duty and called on its reserve operators to protect its service," said Mr. Hall. "The minute that was done we sat down to discuss the questions at issue. The conferees were carried on with the best of good nature."

The company today had nearly 1200 so-called emergency operators in the city, quartered at the most luxurious hotels, awaiting the strike call.

They came from many cities of the east, including New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Jersey City, Pittsburgh and New England cities. One delegation of 350 girls was on the way from Chicago when the agreement was reached. Mr. Hall said that the girls would be kept here for several days longer, during which time the company is to entertain them on sightseeing trips and theatre and dancing parties. It is costing the company about $2000 a day to support this reserve force.

VIOLATIONS OF THE LIQUOR LAW

Investigation of Charges Against Maine Sheriffs Resumed by Legislative Committee

AUGUSTA, Me., April 10.—The investigation into the alleged violations of the prohibitory liquor law in Penobscot county was begun today before the joint convention of the Maine legislature. The proceedings were the same as those under which Sheriff Ballou of Sagadahoc county and Lewis W. Moulton of Cumberland county were convicted and ordered removed from their offices. Three other cases remain to be tried.

The opening argument, made for the state by Benjamin Cleaves of Biddeford, practically was the same as the preceding trials. Sheriff Emerson was specifically charged by Attorney Cleaves with failing to enforce the liquor law in the city of Bangor. The first witness for the state was Arthur Thayer, an attorney, who had made an investigation of conditions in that city. He described various saloons in which he claimed to have purchased liquor and seen persons drinking.

DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT

Was Operated Upon at London Today

LONDON, April 10.—The Duchess of Connaught was operated on this morning at Clarence house by a surgeon from Guy's hospital. The operation was a severe one which was borne well by the duchess.

The Duchess of Connaught suffered on several occasions from peritonitis during her residence in the Dominion of Canada, of which the duke, her husband, is governor-general. The last attack occurred early in January when she was taken from Ottawa to Montreal for treatment in the Royal Victoria hospital, where she remained several weeks. On March 22 the Duke and Duchess of Connaught with Princess Patricia and the members of their suites sailed for England, and it was understood for the time that the duchess was to undergo further surgical treatment there.

NOME, Alaska, April 10.—The break-up of the ice in Behring strait is preventing the rescue of Captain Schroeder, master of the wrecked whaling ship Big Diamond, who is marooned on the north shore of the wrecked ship. The captain was left by other survivors of the wreck of the ship and the schooner Kittiwake, which were destroyed by an ice pack off the Siberian coast last fall. Ignahan Keren, who was in command of the scientific expedition sent out on the Kittiwake by J. E. Thayer of Boston and other members of the party made their way across the ice from the island to the Alaska mainland last month but Capt. Schroeder was too weak to accompany them.

COST OF SMOOTH
PAVING DISCUSSEDThat in 1912 Exceeds Cost in 1911—Municipal Board Provides for Street Work

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon, and called ostensibly for the purpose of approving bills Mayor O'Donnell announced that he had received from the city engineer certain comparative figures for the work of paving done in 1911 and 1912. The figures showed that it cost the city of Lowell nearly 50 per cent. more to do paving during the first year of the new government, when Commissioner Brown had charge of the department of streets and highways, than it did under the old form of government. Commissioner Brown was not present at today's meeting. The figures prepared by the city engineer and read by the mayor showed that in 1911 the amount of paving totalled 22,803.55 square yards, and the cost of the work was $73,235. Of the amount done there were 4559.16 square yards of old granite blocks used, which had been re-cut, while the remainder of 17,244.39 square yards were new blocks.

In 1912 the total cost of paving 22,252.11 square yards was $106,122.31. Although the cost was about $2,000 more there was used over twice as many old blocks, which should have reduced the cost of material very much. In that year there were used 11,424.51 square yards of re-cut granite blocks, while the square yardage of new blocks was 10,827.60.

Considering the fact that so many more old blocks were laid down, and taking into account the extra added cost of $2,000 for the work, the mayor felt that the increased cost of paving in 1912 was fully 50 per cent. over the previous year. The precise cost per yard in each case had not been figured out.

Repulse Fairmount Street

On motion of Commissioner Cummings the council authorized the superintendent of streets and highways to give his attention, so far as he can within his appropriation, to repairs in Fairmount street. The present roadway in that street is said to be in very bad shape.

The council voted to appropriate the sum of $100 to be spent by the sons of veterans and under the direction of the municipal council, in assisting in carrying on the work of decorating the graves of G. A. R. veterans. The appropriation was made at the request of Lucius A. Derby, who talked with the mayor concerning it, and explaining that the time was fast approaching when the sons of veterans would have to shoulder the work of caring for the graves as the veterans will soon be unable to look after them.

Commissioner Cummings asked for and received authority from the council to make regulation on the purchasing agent for 50,000 hard-baked bricks for sewers and about 500 barrels of cement.

Public Library

Commissioner Cummings called attention to the fine work being done in the children's department of the public library and suggested to the mayor that he look into the matter and see if more money is necessary for the extension of the work. He said if more money is required it should be forthcoming. The mayor said he would call the attention of the trustees to the matter.

The mayor spoke of claims submitted prior to Dec. 31, 1912, and asked the council's pleasure relative to a date for a hearing. It was finally decided to set a date later.

Macadamizing Streets

An order for the macadamizing of the following streets was passed: Walker street, Middlesex street to Grove street, Bowers street, Fletcher street to Mt. Vernon street, Rogers street, Boylston street to Buttrick road, Curran street, Crossgrove street to city line, June street, Twelfth street to Thirteenth street, Knapp avenue, Bridge street, Ludlum street to city line, Third street, Bridge street to Fremont street, Chelmsford street, Middle street to Victoria street.

Also that the above named streets be constructed with bitumen and the expenses charged to the appropriation for macadamizing streets.

Pay Street Paving

An order to pave the following streets with grouted granite blocks, was passed: Bridge street, Central bridge to north line of Sixth street, Gorham street, Elm street to Davis square, Main street, Chelmsford street to N. W. H. & R. R. bridge, Fairmount street, School street, westerly to old block pavement.

TO PUT SUGAR ON FREE LIST

Rep. Hardwick of Georgia to Submit to House Caucus Amendment to Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The senate finance committee will have hearings on the tariff bill during the week. Manufacturers in many lines of industry have appealed to Chairman Simmons and other members of the committee for an opportunity to present arguments against the rates proposed in the Underwood bill. The senate committee members take the position, however, that the hearings conducted by the house ways and means committee in January were sufficiently thorough to cover practically all points the senate needs to consider in connection with the tariff revision.

It is believed now that the tariff bill after it finally reaches the senate will not remain in the committee more than ten days. Some expert testimony and some new information upon certain disputed items may be secured by the committee but no open hearings will be held.

After a conference with President Wilson today Rep. Hardwick of Georgia declared he would submit to the house caucus an amendment to the tariff bill to put sugar on the free list in March, 1915, instead of three years from the date of the passage of the bill, as now proposed. Mr. Hardwick predicted a fight for free sugar in the house and told the president he believed it discriminating to give sugar growers two years' time to adjust themselves while other products were immediately to become free.

Democratic members of the finance committee held another meeting today to further consider their program. The wish of President Wilson for early action on the Underwood bill and a few changes in its rates were discussed.

No Nominations Prepared

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Though the senate had adjourned until Saturday and no nominations were prepared at the White House it was stated that Dudley Field Malone, son-in-law of Senator O'Gorman, would be appointed third assistant secretary of state to succeed Chandler D. Felt. Malone has been offered the position and has accepted it. Judge King, national committeeman from Oregon, is slated to fill an existing vacancy on the board of the United States general appraisers at New York.

SOCIETY WOMEN

Some Spend Hundreds of Dollars a Year on Their Hair

Leaders of society in New York know the social value of attractive hair, and according to a metropolitan newspaper every society woman spends a great deal of money to keep her hair beautiful and resplendent.

These women employ highly paid hair dressers and specialists, and as long as they have the money to gratify their desire for beautiful hair, none should complain.

But what about the thousands upon thousands of women just as intelligent, just as refined, and just as lovable as any society women, who have not the means for expert hair dressers and specialists?

What do they do?

Are they not entitled to beautiful, lustrous and luxuriant hair? Most assuredly they are, and thousands of them give thanks daily to the great scientist who puts within their reach, at small price, the marvelous and quick acting hair tonic known all over America as Parisian Sage.

A large bottle of Parisian Sage costs but 50 cents. It will make any woman's hair grow thicker, more beautiful and more lustrous in a few weeks.

It cures dandruff by killing the microbes, and it is guaranteed by Carter & Sherburne to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. Get a bottle while it's on your mind. It is a most pleasant hair dressing, and is not sticky or greasy.

For sale by Carter & Sherburne and at drug stores and toilet goods counters everywhere.

FINE SERMON ON DEATH

Delivered by Fr. Keaney at St. Patrick's

The fourth sermon in the series during this week's mission for men at St. Patrick's church was preached last evening by Rev. Fr. Keaney, S. J., and his subject was "Death." The sermon followed the usual instructions and recitation of the beads and the services closed with benediction of the blessed sacrament. The discourse was delivered in a most impressive as well as forceful manner by the eloquent preacher.

Fr. Keaney dwelt particularly upon the certainty of death and upon the importance of preparing one's self for it, not at the last moment but from the first instant of reason and understanding of its significance. In other words, he said that a man's whole life should be a preparation for death and his final end. Our blessed Lord said that as men live so shall they die, and this the preacher strove to impress upon his congregation in layman's particular stress upon the necessity of preparation of every man for his last hour. Following the worldly pursuits and become careless and lax in the consideration of death and the life to come.

The certainty that every living thing is destined one day to die, which is so unquestionably and so undeniably evident and clear to all is so often the strongest motive to keep one from attending to the solemn truths. The motive is made even stronger by the thought that although death is universal, that is, that everything material which now flourishes in life is destined to die, yet the time, manner and place of the final taking off of men is most uncertain. Our Lord in the holy word was constantly repeating the necessity of watching and being ready; for "we know not the day nor the hour when we shall be called upon to give an account of our stewardship."

The body of last night's sermon treated of our Lord's great sermon on death as related in the 12th chapter of St. Luke. In this he described the man who is first successful and content in attending to his worldly affairs but neglected that all-important matter, the salvation of his soul.

The sermon this evening will be delivered by Fr. Casey, and the subject will be "Judgment." Tomorrow night the subject of the sermon will be "The Day of Wrath." On Sunday afternoon the beautiful ceremony of the blessing of the lakes will take place at 2 o'clock in St. Patrick's church. Sunday night will see the close of the mission with an impressive service and a final appealing sermon on this subject. In the good work started at the mission.

Hildreth Estate Trust Asso. vs.

A. A. Spero, T. F. Hennessy
and Jos. Balter

The case of the Hildreth Estate Trust association vs. Arthur A. Spero, Thomas F. Hennessy and Joseph Balter, in a summary process for possession, was opened in civil session before Judge Barlett at the police court yesterday afternoon. Lawyers Howard, Palmer, Rogers and Stanley Qua appeared for the plaintiffs, while the defendants were represented by lawyers Bent, Hennessy, Hogan and Silverblatt.

A question arose as to whether the local court had jurisdiction over the case. If the question of title was brought up by defendants. A lively lit occurred between the senior counsel, Messrs. Howard and Bent, as to whether the question of title was germane to the case. Court adjourned for ten minutes while each side held a consultation.

When court again convened the defense withdrew their objection and requested that Judge Barlett try the case without sending it up to the superior court.

The plaintiffs allege misrepresentation in the manner of securing the lease and also that certain articles of agreement in the lease have been broken.

The defendant, Mr. Spero, denies the charges of the plaintiffs.

Arthur A. Spero, the lessee of the property in question, was the first witness called by the plaintiffs' side of the case. In answer to Lawyer Howard's queries he admitted that he had had several conversations with two of the trustees of the Hildreth estate before the present lease was drawn up, and also admitted that another paper had been discussed previous to the drawing up of the lease in force now. He could not be specific, however, as to the contents of the first paper except that he remembered that it forbade him to sublet any portion of the property included in the lease. Cross examination by Lawyer Bent did not elicit much further testimony than that already gone over by Mr. Howard.

Architect Sheppard, the man who designed several of Lowell's largest buildings, was next called to the witness stand and gave his opinion about the damage in looks that the central column erected by Messrs. Balter and Hennessy at the entrance to their store on the subleased property had caused to the front of the Hildreth building. He was firmly of the opinion that the column was not perpendicularly erected and that the form of architecture was not what would be called fitting to the general appearance of the rest of the building front. His cross examination was not finished when court adjourned to give Judge Barlett a chance to go down to the building and view the alleged offending pillar himself. The case was continued until April 23, when two days more can be had for a consecutive session.

Time Limit is Reduced

From Two Years to One

SENATOR EDWARD FISHER

Early in February Rep. Butler of this city introduced in the house of representatives a bill, number 1781 providing for the amendment of the law of libel. The bill provided that no suit for libel could be brought unless notice of the libel and other particulars relative to the date and the name of the paper in which the alleged libel appeared should be given in writing to the defendant within thirty days after the date of publication, or a like period after the act if passed should take effect.

Lynn Item and the Lawrence papers were all represented.

It was contended before the committee that when a suit for libel was delayed for two years after the date of publication the witnesses necessary for the defense might be dead or might have moved to some other part of the country, while the documentary evidence needed might be lost or destroyed. It was urged, therefore, that notice of intentions to sue should be given within a reasonable time after the publication of the alleged libel, so that the newspapers might have an opportunity to collect the necessary evidence for the defense.

Charles T. Gallagher, Esq., counsel for the Boston Globe, stated that it was very difficult for the large papers to ascertain even six months after the date of publication who wrote any particular article that appeared in the news columns. The newspapers have become so large and the copy comes from so many different sources, that it would be an impossibility to preserve any record to identify the writer of each particular article. He said that the largest hearing room at the state house would not hold all the copy used in his paper in a year and that to trace the authorship of many news articles during that time would, in most cases, be impossible.

He felt that some relief was necessary although it might not come in the precise form prescribed in that particular bill.

Many other speakers were heard, some of whom made very strong arguments in favor of the bill before the committee. Rep. Butler stated that the bill was prepared in a hurry and that it was his intention to have it redrawn and put into a form that would be more acceptable to the committee and that would be fair to all parties. The redrafting of the measure was submitted to Senator Fisher and Rep. Butler, acting in conjunction with Rep. Menzies of the judiciary committee. The result was that after due deliberation and a new bill was submitted providing that the legal limit in which a suit for libel may be entered after the date of publication, be reduced from two years to one year. That bill became law today by the signature of his excellency the governor.

The bill is as follows: Section four of chapter two hundred and two of the laws of the state, as amended by chapter four hundred and six of the acts of the year 1902, is hereby further amended by striking the words "within two years" and inserting the words "within one year" and by adding at the end thereof the following:—and actions for libel shall be commenced within one year next after the cause of action accrues, so as to read as follows: Section

Senator Fisher and Rep.

Butler Had Bill Put

REP. OTIS BUTLER

4. Actions for assault and battery, for false imprisonment, for slander actions against executors, administrators, guardians, trustees, sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables or assignees in insolvency, for the taking or conversion of personal property, and actions of tort for injuries to the person against counties, cities and towns, shall be commenced only within two years next after the cause of action accrues; and actions for libel shall be commenced within one year next after the cause of action accrues.

Rep. Butler and Senator Fisher, by their work on behalf of this bill have earned the gratitude of every newspaper in the state.

VIOLATION OF THE POSTAL LAWS

H. Myrick and J. H. Cunningham

Placed on Trial on Charge of Conspiracy

BOSTON, April 9.—Herbert Myrick, president of the Orange Judd Co. of Springfield, and James M. Cunningham, a circulation manager, were placed on trial in the federal court today charged with conspiracy to violate the postal laws by making false statements regarding the circulation of a weekly publication. The defendants have been under $5,000 bail since their indictment in July, 1911. The government alleges that on Nov. 30, 1910, the defendants filed a statement with Postmaster Hyde of Springfield for the purpose of obtaining the second class rate of postage in which the total subscription of the periodical was placed at 41,233 while as a matter of fact the actual subscription was only 26,610. It is also charged that the company represented that it paid only 33-1-3 cent commission to subscription agents while it was paying from 50 to 75 per cent.

A second count alleges that on Jan. 10, 1911, the company stated that only six copies were sent to persons whose subscriptions were paid by others through the government claims that 6,468 copies were delivered to parties whose subscriptions were paid by various banks.

United States Attorney Asa P. French is prosecuting the case personally. The defendants are represented by the firm of Brandeis, Dunbar & Nutting.

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Ethel: I am glad you like my canthox shampoo recipe.

Bertha: You ask why a woman in the twenties gets crow's feet and wrinkles and what to do to avoid them. Ill health may cause loss of flesh and wrinkling of the skin which is no longer filled out by flesh, but more often they are caused by worry, deep thought, scowling or the habit of smiling. They can be quickly removed by using this stimulating vegetable jelly-cream which can be made at home at very little cost and will, while filling out the wrinkles, purge the skin of muddy spots and pimples. Get from your drugstore one ounce almond oil and dissolve in half pint of cold water, adding a teaspoonful of glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. Apply to wrinkled surface or entire face to prevent wrinkles and leave through night. Then wash off and use more of the jelly-cream as a massage. This treatment will remove the most obstinate wrinkles or finest crow's feet, while toning the skin to a velvety texture. It is greaseless and does not grow hair.

M. W.: Worry will not remove the fuzz from your chin. Get a small, original package of delatone and with water mix into a paste enough of the powder to cover the hairy surface. Apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the fuzz is gone. This is a harmless method and does not discolor the skin. Be certain it is delatone you get.

Myra: Thick, mossy eyebrows add greatly to beauty. Get a small, original package of pyroxin and rub some on eyebrows frequently with forefinger. This produces the desired effect. To make eyelashes long, silky and curly, apply pyroxin to hair roots with thumb and forefinger. Be cautious and don't get any where no hair is wanted.

Lucile: Face-lotions or washes are to be preferred to ordinary face-powders. To make eyes glow, eyelashes skin can be made white and more youthful if you will use this recipe: To a half-pint of hot water or witch hazel add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine and 4 ounces of spumax; let stand until cold. Apply to the hands and face with the palm of the hand and continue rubbing the skin where applied until dry. This is a beautifier that when on seems part of the skin, and gives it a velvety appearance.

Blanche: If your eyes feel tired and are dull and inflamed, you need an eye-lotion. Dissolve an ounce of crystals in a pint of water. One or two drops of this in each eye every day is all that is needed to strengthen your eyes and make them bright and sparkling. This tonic will not smart or burn and is a great aid to those who wear glasses. It makes the eyes appear brilliant and full of expression. A friend of mine, who is on the stage, tells me she keeps her much-admired eyes beautiful by using this tonic. I find it very strengthening to weak, inflamed, dull and tired eyes and for granulated eyelids.

Grace: Yours is only a spring complaint. At the first signs of warm weather, "spring fever," poor appetites, pale, sallow, pimply faces and that tired, droopy, overworked feeling, mind us of the urgent need of taking preventive measures to ward off sickness and give us energy and good health. No better tonic can be had than the good old-fashioned one made at home at small cost by dissolving an ounce of karsene (which you can obtain at any drug store) in one-half pint of alcohol, adding one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before each meal will do wonders for those who feel "all gone" after the strain of winter or who feel sick and yet don't know just what's the matter.

Quinine: You can make a fine quinine hair tonic as follows: To 1 ounce of quinine add 1/2 pint of alcohol and 1/2 pint of cold water; let stand until the quinine is dissolved. Rub in well until absorbed. This will remove dandruff and stop falling hair, relieve itching scalp, keep the scalp in healthy condition and promote the growth of hair if used once or twice a week. Shampoo the hair twice a month. (See answer to Ada J.)

Ada J.: The best and cheapest shampoo I know of is made from pure, plain canthox. Simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthox in a cup of hot water and stir well until all is dissolved; then proceed to shampoo by pouring it on the hair and rubbing well. This makes a fine lather which makes the head feel good, and cleans the scalp, relieves irritation and makes the hair soft and shiny. Such a shampoo costs very little. (See answer to Dorothy for making a good hair tonic.)

Mrs. T.: It is true that exercising and dieting have brought about satisfactory results to many who considered themselves too fat, but if you are so situated that you cannot take exercise and find that dieting weakens you, I would advise you to try a simple mixture of 1 ounce of canthox and 1/2 ounce of parafin in 1/2 pints of hot water and shake well until dissolved. Strain when cold and it is then ready for use. Take a tablespoonful three times a day and just before meals. This is a harmless flesh reducer.

CASE POSTPONED

IT WAS CALLED AT SUPERIOR COURT

One of the Defendants Is at War, Another is in California and the Plaintiff Could Not Be Located

A rather unusual incident occurred at the superior court yesterday morning when the case of Anastasiou vs. Skrakas et al. was called for trial. The attorneys on both sides were ready to go on with their case, but two of the defendants and the plaintiff were missing, and court was adjourned until this morning.

This is an action of tort for the conversion of 37 barrels of flour. The case was tried in police court some time ago and a finding for the defendant was given. The plaintiff appealed, and when the case was called for trial this morning, there was a number of witnesses present, but it was found that one of the defendants had gone to Greece, where he is fighting for his country, while another defendant is working for a railroad in California. Neither could the plaintiff be located.

SENATORIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

On Investigation of Charge That Bribe Was Offered to Senator Hurley of Waterbury

HARTFORD, Conn., April 9.—The senatorial committee which investigated the charge of Senator John Hurley of Waterbury that John A. Judge of Bridgeport had offered him a bribe to absent himself when the governor's appointment of a highway commissioner was to be taken for highway commissioners. Once, according to Hurley Judge held up three fingers as the size of the bribe and the witness "and the conclusion is made as to Judge's part in the alleged incident the evidence having been given to the state's attorney and the report adding that final jurisdiction does not rest with the senatorial committee.

As to Hurley's testimony the report declares it to have been "seriously inaccurate and unreliable in its most important essentials."

Senator Hurley had openly declared that twice Judge offered him $200 to be out of the state when a vote was to be taken for highway commissioners. Once, according to Hurley Judge held up three fingers as the size of the bribe and the witness "and the conclusion is made as to Judge's part in the alleged incident the evidence having been given to the state's attorney and the report adding that final jurisdiction does not rest with the senatorial committee.

HAS HIS EYES ON BOSTON

McAdoo Starts Shakeup in Customs Service

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Reorganization of the personnel of the customs service by the democratic administration was begun yesterday when Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department took steps to displace all the high customs officials at the port of Philadelphia.

In announcing the action the secretary said: "It is considered vital in the interest of the public that new blood shall be brought into the service."

Mr. McAdoo asked for the resignations of Collector Chester J. Hill, Surveyor Perry M. Lytle, Appraiser Fred P. Vincent and Naval Officer Walter T. Merckel, all of Philadelphia.

Treasury officials, contented themselves with that brief statement, which was the first indication that a sweeping reorganization of the customs service was about to begin.

Officials were reticent as to possible future moves in this direction, but it is known that the secretary has his eyes on the Boston office where an alleged customs scandal is being unearthed.

BOARD OF ARBITRATION

Postponed Deliberation on Railroad Cases

NEW YORK, April 10.—The board of arbitration which is hearing the evidence of the managers of the 62 eastern railroads and their firemen today postponed until tomorrow deliberation upon the evidence submitted to them at the recent hearings in the case. W. W. Afterbury, representing the railroads, was unable to be present. The board has until April 22 to render a decision. Judge W. L. Chambers, chairman of the board, said today that the nine demands of the firemen would be considered one by one with a view to determining first those upon which both sides agreed. Those unobtainable by this method would be taken up next. "In some cases it may be that both sides will agree that a demand should be referred," said Judge Chambers. "In others that it should be granted. Where there is a disagreement we hope to reach a conclusion which while it may not be wholly satisfactory to either side will be such that both sides will concede it is best conclusion under the circumstances. Beginning tomorrow the board will hold sessions daily."

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON

General Opening of 1913 Season
in Both Leagues Today—One
Game Postponed

NEW YORK, April 10.—With games scheduled in seven cities, major league baseball gave its real start for the season of 1913 today. Brooklyn and Philadelphia broke the ice yesterday in a game advanced from the schedule to provide an opening for Brooklyn's new park. This afternoon 12 other teams got into action and start the pennant race in earnest. Unless adverse weather prevents, every team in both the National and American leagues with the exception of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Nationals will have tested its mettle against a league contender before the fall. The Pirates-Reds encounter had to be postponed until Saturday because the grounds at Cincinnati, drenched by flood and the recent rains were still wet for play. East meets east in the most struggles with west in both leagues as usual on opening days. In the National Brooklyn shifts to Philadelphia, Boston plays in New York and St. Louis in Chicago.

For the American league, Philadelphia in Boston, New York in Washington, Chicago in Cleveland and Detroit in St. Louis is the order. Points in the initial day's play which will watch with special interest are the showings of clubs with new managers. Evers in Chicago, Stallings in Boston and Miller Huggins in St. Louis represent the new managerial blood in the older league which figures in the day's battles. In the American league, Frank Chance in New York, Birmingham in Cleveland and Stovall in St. Louis are beginning their respective tasks of building up run-down clubs or trying to land pennant winners. Locally a big day is promised for the Giants when they meet the Boston Nationals at the Polo grounds. While the Braves are not a prime attraction here the opening day features are expected to bring out a large crowd. Texeau in the probable occupant of the box for New York and Perdue for Boston.

TEXTILE SCHOOL WON PUTS LID ON SOCIAL CLUBS

Defeated the Middlesex Maine Sheriff Orders
Team at Baseball Bars Closed

The Lowell Textile school baseball team traveled to Concord yesterday and defeated the Middlesex school team in their first diamond contest of the season by the score of 10 to 3. The Moody street boys were superior in all departments of the game. Although both teams played a rather loose hitting game, the Textile team shows promise of developing into a first class aggregation before the close of the school playing season. The Pirates-Reds encounter had to be postponed until Saturday because the grounds at Cincinnati, drenched by flood and the recent rains were still wet for play. East meets east in the most struggles with west in both leagues as usual on opening days. In the National Brooklyn shifts to Philadelphia, Boston plays in New York and St. Louis in Chicago.

ALBUSTA, Me., April 10.—For the first time since their existence the social clubs of Augusta are dry during a session of the legislature. This action was taken yesterday by Col. Getchell, sheriff of Kennebec county, who, through his deputies notified the stewards of the Elks, the Eagles and the Owls, that if they were doing an illegal business to quit at once or suffer the consequences. The Elks club of Gardner was also notified and the clubs at Waterville have been "dry" for several days. Sheriff Getchell said last night that the clubs would remain dry for the rest of his administration and that the Maine sheriffs which are in progress now in the legislature had nothing to do with his action yesterday, but that when it comes to beating out a bunch of business to quit at once or suffer the consequences.

PRINCIPALS ARE READY

Four Bouts on Program
at Lowell A. C.

The members of the Lowell A. C. are showing great interest in the Tommy Flanagan-Philly McGovern bout, which will be staged at their rooms tomorrow evening, and indications point to a crowded house. The two men are popular here and each has a host of friends. Both are training hard and their managers say that they are in the best of condition and ready to put forth their best efforts. Both come here with good records and a line of their comparative merits may be obtained by the fact that both men met Johnny Munice of Charlestown, and each stayed the limit. In the bout between McGovern and Munice a draw was given after twelve hard rounds, while Flanagan was awarded a decision over the Charlestown boy. After twelve rounds were fought, the semi-final between Johnny Cooper of Boston and Young Morgan of Manchester is one that should prove interesting and exciting. The two boys met last week and their exhibition was one of the best seen here this season. Morgan is a very clever boy, and boxed excellently. Cooper is a hard hitting fighter, and while he doesn't get as many over as the other fellow, his blows have more of a sting. Cooper and Morgan are in great condition and ready to put up a slashing bout. Kid Jamilton and Tom Williams, who entertained in the "Textile" ring last week, will meet again tomorrow night and each is confident that he will be returned the winner. Finkle Boyle and Young Dufrey will furnish the other six round number.

LOWELL BOY WRITES

Alphonse R. Racicot, Now Employed on U. S. S. Pittsburg, is Stationed at Bremerton, Washington

Alphonse R. Racicot of this city and now a seaman aboard the U. S. S. Pittsburg, and stationed at Bremerton, Wash., wrote to a Lowell friend telling him of his experiences along the Pacific coast. The letter is very interesting and with it was a fine photograph of the young seaman, taken aboard the ship. The young man states he is well and enjoying the sea life, and expects to come to Lowell in a short time. He asks when he is remembered to all his Lowell friends.

ROCHAMBEAU COUNCIL

Will Celebrate Its Tenth Anniversary
on April 23—Grand Officers Will Attend

The members of Rochambeau council, R. A., held an important meeting at their quarters in C. M. A. C. hall last evening. Regent Lorenzo Gouin occupied the chair and considerable business was transacted. Two applications for membership were received, and it was decided to observe the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the council, and for this purpose an entertainment committee was called upon and instructed to prepare a program for the event.

The affair will be held at the C. M. A. C. hall on the evening of April 23, and will be for members of the Royal Arcanum only. Invitations will be sent to several of the grand officers in Boston and it is believed that many will respond favorably. The past regents of the council will also be present.

An entertainment program will be supplied and a luncheon will be served.

Saco-Lowell League Game
There was only one match game reported from the local arena last night that of the Office and Shop teams in the Saco-Lowell bowling league. The Office bowlers proved too strong for their opponents and won the contest by the score of 1292 to 1210. Pilkington was high three string man with a mark of 272, while the highest single of 99 went to Hale. The score in detail is as follows:
Office—Hammond, 231; Farrell, 249; Hale, 272; Pilkington, 272; Baker, 261; total, 1292.
Shop—Sterling, 255; Grant, 217; Soule, 219; Blanchard, 209; Sharpe, 250; total, 1210.

Live Bits of Sport

As earlier predicted through this column, Halstein will be kept at first base and Miller will be back at second. The change these two men from their most effective positions would seem to be a reduction in the defensive value of the team. Halstein played first base throughout his college baseball career and although Miller is undoubtedly a good man at the initial bag he has not had the experience at first that he has had at the pivotal position. These two men are expected to aid Manager Gray materially in perfecting a smooth working baseball machine this year.

Whatever may be said about Dee it is certain that the diminutive shortstop is a game little ball player and that he is always on the job until the last out has been made. Whether or not he can be out snover for his old job we would not be able to say, but certain it is that he will be right there with the aggressive spirit which makes a player a valuable asset to a manager.

Ty Cobb is still an unsigned member of the Tiger outfit. He is barnstorming the southern states with a team which he has gathered around him and has made half a season's salary so far according to reports from the towns where he has exhibited himself. That is about all there is to his scheme for his ball club is only a mediocre one and the only reason that a crowd is attracted to the grounds is because of great Cobb is to be seen in action. From what President Navin of the Detroit team says, Ty is no nearer getting his $15,000 than he was at the start of his hoidout stint. Navin says that he has got to develop a team from recruits this year anyway and does not much care whether "the Georgia peach" signs up or not.

With Pete Clements back in the Lowell lineup the locals will be greatly strengthened in the outfield. Clements is just about as fast as we see them when it comes to beating out a bunch of travelling around the circuit. His experience with the Milwaukee team during the past few weeks should have put him in the pink of condition for the opening of the New England league season and he should start out with a much faster stride this year than he has ever shown at the beginning of any season.

There were eight errors marked up against the two teams in the Lowell Textile-Middlesex school game yesterday. This is quite a large number of misplays for one game even if it be an early season contest, but it does not reach the total of errors chalked up for the New York university ball club the other day. In the game referred to the score handed out a sheet with 19 errors thereon, every man except the right fielder having one or more errors. The right fielder had no chances.

The Red Sox wound up their pre-season games by defeating Holy Cross yesterday afternoon at Fenway Park. "Buck" O'Brien and Ray Collins were the box artists for the world's champions and had everything that was necessary in the line of slants and speed. The score was 5 to 1. Holy Cross scoring her only run in the third inning on two clean hits, one of them by Larry Gardner carried over for two bases. Larry Gardner carried off the batting honors with the singles to his credit.

Denny Meyers, last year's Toronto star outfielder, lost the game for Brooklyn yesterday in their opener with the Phillies. He booted the ball twice and let in the only run of the game in the first inning when he muffed Magee's fly and allowed Knabe to score. It was his first big league contest and the nervousness that he displayed yesterday will no doubt wear off after he has connected a couple of times with the ball. The Superiors expect to make a good man out of the youngster.

ing in the percentage column and this game will decide the championship trophy of the league. With fair weather conditions the largest attendance has been witnessed at games this season is looked for at Glen Essex next Saturday.

PHILLY MCGOVERN

BROOKLYN BOXER ARRIVED HERE TODAY

Will Meet Tommy Flanagan at Lowell A. C. Tomorrow Evening—"Terrible Terry" to Act as Second

Philly McGovern, the Brooklyn boxer who meets Tommy Flanagan in the main bout at the Lowell A. C. tomorrow evening, arrived in town today. He drove into The Sun office with his manager, Larry McCormack. He says that he is in the pink of condition. With "Fodge" Murphy and his trainer he will complete his work at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. He also stated that his brother, "Terrible Terry" who held the lightweight title for several years, will be here tomorrow evening and will act as his second in the bout.

LOWELL-LAWRENCE Soccer Game

The final game of the Lowell-Lawrence Soccer league will be played on next Saturday between the Andover United team and Manchester Light Blues. These teams will be present for first place with an even standing in the percentage column and this game will decide the championship trophy of the league. With fair weather conditions the largest attendance has been witnessed at games this season is looked for at Glen Essex next Saturday.

PLEASING CONCERT

Given for the Benefit of the Pawtucket Church Choir Library Fund—Large Attendance

A very enjoyable concert was given in the Pawtucket church last night for the benefit of the choir library fund. The attendance was large and appreciative and for lovers of good music the event proved very successful.

The program had been arranged by Mr. Elijah N. Axon, who showed skill and taste in securing some of the best talent of the city.

The first number was an organ selection by Mr. Sidney R. Fleet who played an arrangement for the organ of the overture to "Martha". Others who took part in the concert were: Miss Edith B. Thompson, soprano; Mr. Walter C. Bruce, baritone; Miss Edith P. Morgan, violin; Miss Florence Milner, Mrs. A. T. Howe, Mr. Harry N. Patten and Mr. Elijah N. Axon, quartet; Messrs. Harry N. Patten, Carl Mason, Donald Hanson and Guy Johnson, quartet; Mrs. Belle Harrington, soloist.

The accompanists of the evening were Messrs. Carl Mason and Sidney R. Fleet. All numbers were well received and in many instances encores were called for.

The ordinance was the result of the recent erection of a single-story building on Lisbon street.

400,000 WILL QUIT WORK

Troops in Belgium Prepared for Strike

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 10.—Troops occupied today many of the great industrial centers of Belgium, such as Courtrai, Alost, Mechlin, Louviers, Tournai and Renaix in preparation for the general strike for manhood suffrage ordered for Monday when 300,000 or 400,000 men will quit work. In most of the cities large crowds gathered to watch the arrival of the troops and cheered the soldiers as they marched past their regimental bands playing. The socialist strike-leaders in the various localities have offered in the authorities the services of special constables drawn from their own ranks to aid in preserving order.

RECIPROCITY

The learned and wise men of the land who survey the political horizon as a broad issue, and whose minds do not lose their sense of proportion from dwelling exclusively on the technical points of domestic legislation, see a great prospect of our coming prosperity in future foreign trade expansion. So interested and ardent have been for years in our national legislation that we directed but little energy to the furthering of better trade relationships with the other great and powerful nations of the world. In fact, it has been pointed out that our whole system of laws governing imports and exports has tended more to discourage trade reciprocity than to create more cordial relations of mutual advantage. The fully and short-sightedness of this policy, however, seems to have been now realized, and the forces that influence our business expansion are advocating an exchange of trade between ourselves and the rest of the world on an unprecedented scale.

President Wilson is an ardent advocate of this reciprocity in its truest and newest sense, and he has frequently declared his views publicly on the matter. Undoubtedly he had a hand in the framing of the clause of the new tariff bill, which reads:

"That for the purpose of readjusting the present duties on imports into the United States and at the same time to encourage the export trade of this country, the president of the United States is authorized and empowered to negotiate trade agreements with foreign nations wherein mutual concessions are made looking toward free trade relations and further reciprocal expansion of trade and commerce."

Those who might be inclined to condemn the features of the bill which would give the president discretionary power must remember that any action taken by him in this respect would have to be approved by congress before becoming effective. Keeping this in mind the innovation would seem to be an excellent one, and as Chairman Underwood points out in a statement accompanying the proposed measure, the most natural way to extend our foreign trade is by a system of mutual concessions that would be beneficial to both of the contracting parties. Our trade with the Orient is now well established and in a fair way of growing to enormous proportions. The Panama canal opens up vast possibilities of trade expansion with South America. By "mutual concessions" we may foster industrial relationships with the countries of Europe and Asia and thus build up a merchant marine that will carry our flag to all the commercial ports of the world.

THE 17TH AMENDMENT

By the recent action of Connecticut in ratifying the proposed amendment to the constitution providing for the popular election of senators, the requisite thirty-six have signified their acceptance of the reform and it will now become one of our laws upon proclamation from Washington. This speedy ratification points conclusively to the fact that the people have long desired this change, and on being given a chance to express their approval of the proposed measure, they acted through their state legislatures with a promptness which is peculiarly significant. Its success is due not only to the new feeling of progressiveness which is apparent in politics but to the demands of common sense. Even under the old form of election by caucus the people were supposed to approve the choice, but in many parts of the country it is evident that by the forces of the "machine" and political wiles senators were elected who would not have been supported by popular approval. The evils of the old system are very apparent. Under it corrupt influences were easily exerted in favor of certain individuals, resulting in long delays and drawbacks, that often seriously hampered the business of the legislatures.

Now when the people have expressed themselves with such unanimity in favor of the popular election of senators, when President Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson have favored it, when our state legislatures have supported it unanimously it is well to consider that when Mr. Bryan advocated it back in the nineties, those who supported his views were looked upon as disloyal to country and opposed to the best interests of good government. Gradually the feeling has disappeared and now when it is so justly justified the attitude of Mr. Bryan and his supporters, the reaction must come that the government has no fear in coming nearer to the people and that the future of the country is indeed in the hands of the masses. No national movement of this kind has been received with more hearty and general approval and few have promised a more direct and lasting reform.

IN PERSON

One of the most extraordinary events of the extraordinary session of congress which has been called to consider the question of tariff revision, was the spectacle of the president of the United States delivering his message in person, the first to do so since the days of Washington and Adams. Although the declaration of his intention came as a complete surprise, and met some slight opposition in the senate, it is remarkable that it did not arouse much unfavorable comment. All new departures for good or evil are regarded with suspicion simply because they are new, but the critics who would condemn the action of the president found little ground for censure. The president, therefore, has been generally taken at his word, and no motive has been attributed to his action that is not honorable and sincere.

Presidents should be considered sacred only when they are sound and a breach is justified if it results in a greater good. As read by President Wilson his message was vital. It rank true in its emphasis of principles, it raised the minds of his auditors from the technical verbiage incident to tariff revision and showed them the loftiness of purpose, the greatness of the ideal, that in back of the coming legislation. It proved the president a progressive in the truest and highest sense. It showed him as having the best interests of the people at heart, fully conscious of his earnest promises, and resolved to keep these promises even if it means the breaking of a needless precedent.

CO-OPERATION

With gratification we note that Mayor O'Donnell has requested the police department to co-operate with the municipal authorities in ensuring better conditions as to the cleanliness and general health of the city. The adoption of this course has been advocated more than once in these columns, and it must be apparent to all that a compliance with the mayor's request would result in a speedy improvement in the conditions which have been so generally deplored during the last few weeks. The duties of the members of the police force take them into every section of the city. If they set out to accomplish the suggested good and an alley or back yard need escape their vigilance. By talking with the owners of the property and the offending tenants as to refuse heaps, garbage, and other abuses, by preventing junk dealers and boys from piling the contents of barrels set out for the board of health teams, and, in the down-town section, by checking the tendency of people to throw papers, etc., on the street, a change for the better would be soon apparent. Better still, the people would be brought to realize the personal responsibility that rests on them to do their part in making Lowell a cleaner, more beautiful, and more healthful city. Many cities of the state consider the matter of such importance that, every spring, one day is set aside which is known as the special spring cleaning day, and the citizens and authorities vie with each other in their "spotless town" activities. The local authorities ought to be particularly vigilant and active during the month of April and they may feel assured that any exertions they may make will be approved by a grateful public.

THE MILITANTS

It is evident from London despatches that the militant suffragettes have been compelled frequently to lay to rest the protection of the "man made laws" for which they have announced complete disregard and utter contempt. On more than one occasion the "bobby" who has often been the victim of their misdeeds and uncompromising epithets, have had to come between them and the fury of an enraged and unfriendly populace, made hostile by their outrages. If they decline any moral obligation in obeying the law they surely do not deserve its protection. The anger of the mob might devise more effective measures to quell the fury of the militants than the ineffectual measures of a peripatetic government.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The New Square Deal
Salem News: Of course there is nothing in the creation and management of the "New Square Deal" that is new. Everybody in the new party has the square deal, and can say what he wants to, as long as it doesn't affect the organization and then he may expect to be kicked for it.

President's Message

Lowell Sun: Today is the great day. Those who see the president of the United States make his tariff speech to congress today will have something to tell their grandchildren. It is remarkable that there was so little opposition even in the senate to a revolutionary step. It may be taken as proof that all are disposed to give the new president a free hand to work out his leadership of the party and the nation his own way.

The World Laughing

Burlington Free Press: These powers might be in bigger business than in trying to prevent the Senate from ratifying the tariff bill. The world is laughing at the "unimpeachable" tariff practically out of Europe, and we are glad that the allies are in "really" cooperating their powerful neighbors into the making of marked concessions. The world now beholds the spectacle of the little Balkan states, the subject of great powers of Europe, and treating the latter's proposals in the most contemptuous manner possible. The whole world is laughing, except those who are being plucked by the situation, and the result ought to be the working out of the tariff, the Balkan states as well as the larger Balkan states.

Approved

Fall River Globe: The administration at Washington is acting wisely in recognizing the Chinese republic. There is no good reason why such recognition should be further withheld. The new government has been on trial long enough to demonstrate its stability and the insurrectionary outbreaks that have been the result of the change from the monarchy to the republicanism of government appear to have subsided.

Plant Trees

Lawrence American: There is too much of the spirit of "let George do it" about town improvement. Why wait for street superintendents to plant trees in front of your house? A few little saplings cost little, and one can frequently find them for the asking on a holiday excursion into the country.

Outraged Nature

Springfield Union: Those that point to the disastrous floods as proof that nature does something to make mistakes for themselves, mistaking the effect for the cause. Nature planted trees at the headwaters of the streams to hold the waters in check at times of heavy rainfall, but men denuded the forests, undoing the work of nature, and preparing the way for the disastrous floods.

HAD BIG MEETING

GROCERS AND BUTCHERS AT BUILDERS EXCHANGE

Sealer of Weights and Measures and His Deputy Commended For Good Work

President E. S. Fitzpatrick presided at a well attended meeting of the Lowell Retail Grocers and Butchers' association at the Builders' Exchange last night. The records of the previous meeting were read and approved. A paper on "Freight and Express Rates" from the National Retail Grocers and Butchers' association was read and considerable discussion followed.

The Massachusetts State Association of Grocers and Provision Dealers sent out a letter on "Weights and Measures" that was very interesting. The record visit to this city of several representatives from the office of the Massachusetts' commissioner of weights and measures was referred to in a general way.

The paper issued from the office of John W. Stott, city sealer of weights and measures, which appeared in The Sun today, was read and commented upon favorably.

Treasurer E. M. Bowers speaking of Mr. Stott's paper, said: "Mr. Stott's words have the right ring to them. Here is a public servant whose services are not fully appreciated by the consuming public. Our city sealer and his deputy are painstaking and thorough in their work. I believe their salaries are well earned, and that the money the dealers pay them on their visits is a good investment, both for the merchant and the consumer. The Lowell association of grocers and provision dealers believes that the great majority of merchants are honest and reliable and worthy of public confidence. Both the dealer and his clerk labor many weary hours a week. They are anxious to please and give good service, and both are underpaid. The ordinary mechanic of today receives double the remuneration in proportion to the number of hours he labors. Very few, if any, of our grocers and provision dealers have retired wealthy, and nearly all of them feel obliged to 'plug away' until within sight of the grave."

The dealer who gives credit carries heavy loads these times.

HEARINGS BEFORE MUNICIPAL BOARD

Mr. Stickney Wants Central St. Widened

FOR CHANGES AT CORNER OF PRESCOTT AND CENTRAL STS.

Hearing on Petition for Extension of Fairmount Street—Hearing on Board of Trade Petition Continued

The municipal council last night gave a hearing on the petition of Charles Stickney for the widening of Central street, five feet, on its easterly side, at its junction with Prescott street.

Mr. Stickney said that judging from what other cities were doing, widening streets, making new streets, etc., he thought it was time for Lowell to get a move on. According to Mr. Stickney, Lowell is very far behind in a great many things.

He said that the congestion at Central, Prescott and Market streets called for the widening of Central street as set forth in his petition. At the junction of Central and Prescott streets the sidewalk is 10 feet and 4 inches, while at Warren street it is about 14 feet in width.

Mr. Stickney said that Central street should be widened at the point in question in order that "cars coming down Central street would not be obliged to stop, but to move over toward Market street so as not to block traffic at that point. He advocates building an arcade through the Hildreth building, through which cars may go to Paige street, where a public waiting station will be located.

He touched upon the function of a public hall, which will some day be erected, and which shall in a part hold an exhibition of goods manufactured in Lowell. Mr. Stickney covered a great deal of ground outside of the petition.

He spoke of the building at the corner of Central and Prescott streets and felt the council should at once order its removal. He believed the city is in a position to prevent this building from being continued in its present form.

He objected to the placing of a $15,000 vault in a $6000 police building. He said the board of health should object to the building being continued in use. Mayor O'Donnell said he felt in accord relative to Mr. Stickney's statements about the police building, but at the present time there is not sufficient money with which to do all the work. Instead, he will be compelled to rent to the city for the use of a portion of the Market street building the expense is not as great as it would be were the building not, in part, self-supporting.

Mr. Williams a Remonstrant
Charles A. Williams was a remonstrant, representing the Southwick estate, called Mr. Williams said that Prescott street does not diverge from Central street at a right angle; it is more of an acute angle, he felt. If the street is to be widened on its easterly side, a corner will be cut from the Southwick property. Mr. Williams said he found that Central street at this point is uniformly of the width of other portions of Central street.

He said he had never seen any congestion at this point. If the street is widened, it would mean a great loss to the owners of the Southwick property. "There is no public demand for this change," said Mr. Williams. "The only person I have heard demand the widening of Central street is Mr. Stickney."

Other Remonstrants
Albert W. Crocker, representing the W. B. Spalding estate, coincided with Mr. Williams. He thought there is no great public demand for the change.

John W. Robertson of the Robertson company was an objector, contending that the proposed widening would seriously injure his business.

Fairmount Street Extension
Frank E. Dunbar, Esq., speaking on the plan to extend Fairmount street from Main street to Wyman street, said residents in the locality had agreed to subscribe to a fund to be given to the city to assist in putting the project through. He said he had had a sum of $2000 pledged by residents there.

He asked that the city give some assurance that if the money is forthcoming the extension will be made. He asked that an answer be given as promptly as possible.

Mr. Cummings said there is a session of the council Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, for the approval of bills, and the matter might properly come up at that time.

The Mayor's Motion
Mayor O'Donnell then read the following motion, relative to the matter. Voted, that it is the sense of the municipal council that upon conditions hereinafter stated, Fairmount street be extended between Mansur street and Wyman street, as shown on plan No. 2 heretofore submitted by petitioners therefor; that a committee consisting of the commissioner of streets and highways, the city solicitor, and the city engineer be requested to prepare and promptly submit to this council suitable votes, orders or resolutions for the acquisition by purchase or otherwise by the city of Lowell for street purposes of the land indicated on said plan, such votes, orders or resolutions to be passed by this council when there shall have been properly secured to the city payment of the sum of $2000 for the prompt laying out and the prompt and proper construction, with suitable sidewalks, of said Fairmount street extension.

The motion was passed without opposition.

Board of Trade's Petition
The petition of the Lowell board of trade relative to an ordinance regulating the removal of furniture, household goods, etc., came up for a hearing.

Mayor O'Donnell said that Lawyer Leonard, representing the furniture union, had asked for a continuance on the matter.

Mr. Donahue said that a question of law is involved, and he asked that the city solicitor look it over before any action is taken.

William Williams, a furniture dealer, said that an ordinance similar to the one proposed in Lowell is in force in Quincy. A similar law is in force in other states in the union.

He could not conceive why anybody should object to a law which would tell where people move to.

Mr. Cummings asked if the State Furniture Dealers association had presented a bill to the legislature at the present session, similar to the ordinance proposed here.

Mr. Williams said it had been, and had been killed. It had received the endorsement of the Trades and Labor council.

Charles E. Anderson, of the Lowell Trades and Labor council, said that the council had not endorsed the bill. Mr. Williams said he meant the Bos-

William W. Hastings, Ph. D., of Battle Creek, Michigan, addressed members and friends of the Y. M. C. A. last night in the entertainment hall, on "Strength, Symmetry and Efficiency." The speaking took the place of the regular drill work and there was a large attendance.

Dr. Hastings spoke on developing the body and the object of physical training. He spoke of several physically trained men and gave a great deal of information relative to healthful living and training in general. Previous to the lecture in the hall he addressed the members of the leader corps in the dining room. He spoke on preparing for the position of physical instructor and said in Y. M. C. A. work alone, 150 men were needed as instructors each year.

Many questions then followed and they were readily answered by the speaker.

WHAT WILL THE MARKET BE?

Last Night's Hearing on Petition for Establishment of a Public Market Suggests Question

A hearing on the petition for the establishment of a public market in this city was given by the municipal council at city hall, last night. The hearing was attended by representatives of farmers in surrounding towns, farmers, produce men and many others. It was a long drawn out affair and really didn't amount to very much in the end and especially because of the fact that the petitioners were not united and had evidently not talked the matter over very thoroughly between themselves. The council was of the belief that the farmers, as a whole, had some definite idea in view, but it turned out that while some of them believed in a public retail market, others advocated a public wholesale market. They were united, however, in the belief that some method should be adopted that would eliminate the necessity of farmers chasing one another about the city streets in an effort to sell their produce.

Rep. William R. Taylor, master of the Westford grange, said it was not part of a farmer's name to look up purchasers and he said he was sick of fragmentary business in farming or anything else. "We hear a great deal about busting the trusts," said Mr. Taylor, "and I want to say that if the trusts were obliged to do business the way the farmer is obliged to do business, the trusts would bust of their own accord." Speaking about the farmers going from house to house in an endeavor to sell their produce, Mr. Taylor said the toe of the boot was often pointed their way and it is a wonder, he said, they haven't been arrested for disturbing the peace. He allowed that the establishment of a central market would be of great advantage to the consumer.

Mr. From Westford.

Samuel Taylor, representing the Westford grange, was the first speaker. He said market conditions are most unnecessary for the farmer to leave his goods with charitable institutions.

"This is a question of the greatest good to the greatest number," he said. "If it drove other storekeepers out of business, then it would be because the central market would do more good than all the other markets could."

"Is Mr. Knight here?" asked Mayor O'Donnell.

"No, he's probably keeping the night elsewhere," said Mr. Taylor.

Othello Greenwood believed that the proper location for a public market would be at the old Tower's corner railway station. He thought farmers might hire stalls or retail their produce from their wagons.

If the farmer could be allowed to sell his goods in that way it would cut out the peddlers from going around the streets.

Jesse Trull speaks.

Jesse Trull said he had been running a market wagon for 15 years and felt that a central market is the only thing. His idea would be to have marketmen know where he could be found, so they could buy what they needed early in the morning.

"What do you mean by a public market?" asked Ald. Barrett.

"Something to enable us to sell to the stores. I would urge a place where the farmers can place their teams and where they could sell to all who came. As matters are now it is impossible to get the best stock. The peddlers get it all now. We can go into Boston and dispose of all our stuff in an hour," replied Mr. Trull.

Charles Wright of Billerica, representing the Middlesex North Pomona grange, said he favored the market plan. People in Boston don't have to pay any more for their retail goods than is paid for wholesale. There are always many odd lots of various things which have to be cleared off quickly and they invariably go at a low figure. Everybody would be benefited, he felt.

The storekeeper now has to depend on a farmer bringing him just what he needs. If the farmer who calls hasn't got it then the trade can't have it. At a central market the storekeeper could have to be cleared off quickly for his line of customers. At first the scheme would produce some confusion, but it would all work out properly.

Mr. Wright said that he knew very little about the proposition to sell to the retail trade, his plans concerning the wholesale trade.

"How do you find your customers in Boston?" asked Mr. Cummings.

"They come to us. I never got stuck but once in Boston."

"Do you think that the poor man gets the benefit of this sort of market?"

"Not what he should get, but the grocery man can buy cheaper than he does now, and so could sell at retail cheaper."

Justin Richardson.

Justin Richardson of Braintree said he had a new lot of goods going into the Boston market. He would sell it all before 10 a. m. If Lowell had such a market he could sell it here just as easily. As matters now stand he does not care to bother with Lowell because he can't sell to any advantage here. He thought that stalls would be encouraged if the wholesale market is started.

A man can go to the public market, he said, and buy a barrel of beans, or of cabbage, or a box of lettuce instead of being bothered all day by men who want to sell him something he doesn't want. A storekeeper would be in the position to buy just what he wanted.

"You can buy just as cheaply at places in this city as you can in South Market street, Boston, can't you?" asked Mr. Barrett.

"Yes, because you buy what has to be sold at local markets."

There was much applause at this statement.

William B. Sproule.

William B. Sproule didn't feel that the retail dealers should be considered. The farmers are up against it," he says, as matters now stand. A farmer takes it out of his horses, his teams and himself and then gets little for his labor and long hours. To establish a permanent market he felt the city would have to appeal to the legislature. However, he would welcome the city going into the market business, hiring the clerks, etc. The bringing together of the farmers on one street would not lower the cost for the consumer. The only thing which would cut the price would be the establishment of a public market.

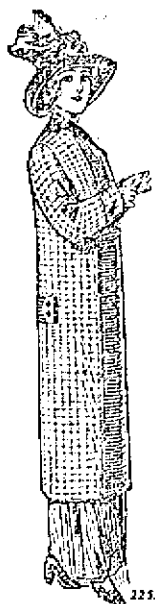

Rev. N. J. Houghland.

Rev. N. J. Houghland of Tyngsboro said that the public market idea, to him, represented a structure opened on four sides where farmers could back up their loads of produce and sell to all comers, the women who run private homes or boarding houses, as well as those who owned stores.

Albert E. O'Hair.

Albert E. O'Hair believed that the Idea of a public market came from foreign lands. There are stores near to the farmers, and so they bring their produce to one central point where they can dispose of food products as well as cloth, stockings, etc. Where he had been here this condition once obtained, although with the establishment of stores the public market dwindled.

He said that the public market here might eliminate middlemen to some extent and would mean much to the consumer.

Mr. Cummings said he believed the farmers are better organized than any union men in the city. "Yet get about everything in the state," he said. "You get your roads built."

Men from Tewksbury.

"Well, perhaps we do," said Frank Carter of Tewksbury. "but everybody has a chance to use them, and we work for them if we get them."

Gov. W. Z. Trull of Tewksbury said that Worcester in the town of Lowell, for it has voted to establish a municipal market. Present traffic laws in Lowell make it much harder for the farmer to do business with stores here, he said, and he thought the banks of the Cabot street canal would be an excellent spot for the location of stalls for farmers. He wanted such stalls ready for occupancy six days a week.

Others Heard From.

Walter Booth said it would be the best possible thing to have a public market here. If the farmers gathered at a given point the retailers could get just what they wanted in a very short time.

Frank Foster of the Braintree grange said he had been instructed to register his voice in favor of the public market. No action was taken.

TREATS 69 PATIENTS

Dr. Friedmann in Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, April 10.—Before a representative gathering of the medical profession of the state, Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann yesterday injected the vaccine which he claims is a cure for tuberculosis into 69 of the 124 patients at the Waltham Lake Sanatorium, a state institution at Passacon.

While none of the physicians who witnessed the clinic would make any statement as to their opinions of the curative powers of the treatment, several of them said that they were favorably impressed with the German physician.

FINDS SHERIFF GUILTY

Legislature Votes to Remove L. W. Moulton

AUGUSTA, Me., April 10.—The legislature yesterday voted to send an address to the governor asking for the removal of Sheriff Lewis W. Moulton of Cumberland county for alleged neglect or refusal to enforce the prohibitory liquor law. The vote in the senate was 17 to 12 in favor of removal, and in the house it was 89 to 41.

The action did not come as a surprise. Atty. Pattangahy, in arguing the case of the defence, claimed that testimony showed the conditions in Portland from a liquor standpoint were better now than ever before, that pocket peddling and kitchen barrooms had been driven out of business, and that as a rule the brand of enforcement as furnished by Sheriff Moulton was what the people wanted, as was evidenced by his re-election last September.

Atty. Gen. Wilson, in the presentation of the prosecution, said that the presence of the liquor behind the bars, the absence of watchers, about the place, the large shipments of beer and ale into the city, the faucets and the place glass mirrors in the resorts, showed that there was an open and flagrant violation of the law. He also argued that the prohibitory law was not on trial, but the question was whether Sheriff Moulton had done his duty.

COLD, RAIN AND COLD

Weather Men Say This Will Be the Battering Order in Today's Weather Game

BOSTON, April 10.—Weather bureau experts said last night that the chill which yesterday made one shiver on venturing outdoors and caused a suspension of spring planting plans will be temporarily broken this afternoon or tonight by rains, but that cold weather will be back on the job again Saturday.

A minimum temperature of 29 and raw east to northwest winds that reached a velocity of 26 miles set Boston shivering yesterday, but the weather men say that with today's showers will come light to fresh southerly winds that will warm things up a little.

Preparations were made yesterday for launching the swanboats of the public garden fleet and within a day or two they will be put in the water for another season. The rowboats up at the public garden, too, have been overhauled. Soon they will be ready again for many a future Harvard crew man to try pulling his first stroke oar with his nurse or governess as coxswain.

WILSON TO TAKE STUMP

Will Speak in New Jersey for Jury Reform Bill for Which Special Session Will Be Called

TRENTON, N. J., April 10.—Gov. Fielder announced yesterday that he would call a special session of the legislature, to meet on May 5 next, to consider a jury reform bill that is advocated by President Wilson and which failed of passage at the regular session of the assembly that adjourned last week.

Gov. Fielder said President Wilson would come to New Jersey probably the latter part of this month, in an endeavor to create public sentiment in favor of the bill.

Would you eat dried beef in preference to a juicy steak?

No! You would take the steak! The man who wants a sweet, cool, fragrant smoke, prefers plug tobacco to sliced or granulated tobacco, because plug tobacco has more flavor and fragrance.

The real tobacco flavor depends upon the natural moisture in the leaf. The only way to preserve all this flavor is to press the leaves into plug form and keep the moisture in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper.

Tin cans, cloth bags or waxed paper packages do not keep in all the moisture of granulated tobacco. Some of the flavor departs when the moisture evaporates. The drier tobacco is the hotter it smokes—the more it bites your tongue.

With Master Workman Plug you can cut a fresh pipeful whenever you smoke and everytime will find it the freshest—sweetest—smoothest—coolest tobacco you ever stuffed into a pipe. Try it today and convince yourself. You'll say Master Workman makes a sweet pipe sweeter.

WILL ABATE SMOKE NOISANCE AT DEPOT

Lowell's Smoke Inspector is Doing Good Work—He Finds People Anxious to Co-operate With Him

One of the first acts of Smoke Inspector Riley upon taking office a few weeks ago was to communicate with the superintendent of motive power of the Boston & Maine railroad, Mr. Wiggins, relative to the great volume of smoke at or in the vicinity of the Middlesex street depot. Complaints had been received at the office of the smoke inspector and the complainants stated that engineers were in the habit of "rearing up" while the engines were at the depot, or while they passed back and forth through the yard.

As a result of his correspondence with the Boston & Maine authorities, Mr. A. L. Wade, smoke inspector for that company, came to Lowell and remained here for two or three days in order to acquaint himself with conditions.

"Mr. Wade is smoke inspector for all of the nine divisions of the Boston & Maine railroad," said Mr. Riley, "and while he is a very busy man he decided to come to Lowell and ascertain just what the trouble was in this city. After remaining here for two or three days he admitted that there was cause for complaint, but that the trouble was due to a green crew on one of the shifting engines. He went away promising that he would have the matter rectified at once."

"While in Lowell Mr. Wade went with me to the plant of the Lowell Electric Light Co., in Perry street, to view the operation of the Taylor undersed stokers that are being used there. He allowed that the stokers are all right.

"Everybody seems to be anxious to co-operate with the smoke inspector in abating the smoke nuisance and there is hardly a plant in the city that has not tried some device intended for that purpose. The Hay State woolen mills are installing Rice's oil generators and they will be given a test next Friday. I will be present when the test is being made."

MR. JACOB FILLER'S HORSE
Created Excitement

MR. FILLER WAS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Had Narrow Escape From Death, But His Injuries Are Not Serious

A runaway and bad spill resulted from the appearance of an automobile on the horizon of Jacob Filler's home about 8:30 o'clock this morning.

The horse became frightened at the sight of the machine and started off like the wind down Plain street with Mr. Filler in the carriage. Not to be longly frightened, the animal plunged through a fence and into an adjacent field with unabated speed, dragging the vehicle with its occupant along behind him.

After zig-zagging back and forth across the field several times, the horse finally turned back into Plain street through another portion of the fence and started down the hill at breakneck speed with the man, fantastically trying to get him under control. It was an attempt which proved futile, however, for the animal continued down the hill until the carriage at last collided with an obstruction that could not be ridden over.

The carriage was practically demolished by the collision and Mr. Filler was thrown heavily to the ground, sustaining injuries that made an ambulance call necessary. He was taken to St. John's hospital where it was discovered that, aside from a few lacerations and bruises and various small abrasions, the injured man received nothing worse than a severe shaking.

PRESIDENT WILSON AFTER LONG TALK ON THE TARIFF PROBLEMS, WINS SENATORS OVER

PRESIDENT WILSON READING MESSAGE BEFORE CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, April 10.—In the interest of success for the democratic tariff revision bill, President Wilson, last night, in a long and earnest address to the senate, which had never before been used for such a purpose as yesterday's within the knowledge of senate historians.

At the end of the conference, the president with democratic simplicity stopped in the senate corridor to tell the newspapermen of the results. Members of the senate finance committee had agreed the president should be the only spokesman for the conference.

"I hope the senate and representatives will permit me to come here frequently and confer with them in a way to save their time and mine," he said.

"At our conference this afternoon, we were of course discussing the tariff. The net result is we don't see any difficulty about standing together on any sort of party program."

The president was asked if the conference had decided whether the tariff would be revised in a single bill or schedule by schedule.

"That's a matter for the other end of the capitol," he answered, pointing toward the house side.

But the president was guided by your advice, will they not?" he was asked by the newspapermen.

"I haven't asked them," rejoined the president with a smile.

The president had been informed by the senators fully of the difficulties ahead of the tariff bill if it came to the senate as a single bill.

The president again reviewed the long-standing precedent in seeking a legislative conference within the capitol. He met with senators in the president's room, near the senate chamber, where the presidents have long come to sign the last bills of a dying congress, but which had never before been used for such a purpose as yesterday's within the knowledge of senate historians.

CALLS HARDENBURG A FORGER

Man Who Disclosed Alleged Putumayo Rubber Field Atrocities Accused in Court

LONDON, April 10.—Pinned down to answer definitely "yes" or "no," as to whether in his opinion W. D. Hardenburg, the American civil engineer who first disclosed the Putumayo rubber field atrocities which are said to have cost the lives of hundreds of Peruvian Indians, was a forger, Julius Caesar Arana, former director of the Peruvian Amazon company after prolonged fencing told the Putumayo investigating committee.

"That is my conviction," Arana also asserted that Hardenburg tried to blackmail the company. The questions were put in connection with an alleged forged bill and an alleged offer by Hardenburg to withhold his information if he were paid $15,000, the value of his lost baggage. Hardenburg was sitting directly behind Arana in the committee room when the accusations were leveled at him.

WHIST AND SOCIAL BLOODSHED IN BUFFALO

Conducted by the A. G. Militia Firs Volleys in Cadets Last Night

THE AFFAIR WAS HELD IN ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE HALL

A Feature of the Evening Was An Exhibition Drill by the Young Soldiers

The boys of the A. G. Cadets gave their first annual whist and social at St. Joseph's college hall last night.

The affair was very largely attended, showing the popularity of the cadets among the older folks. The event was a flattering success for the organizers, and provided great entertainment for all who attended.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the young soldiers in their full regalia added greatly to the appearance of the place. Present also in full uniform were delegations from Gardes Frontenac, d'Honnore and Jacques-Cartier.

Major Arthur J. Lamoureux acted as presiding officer, and although this was his first attempt his work was very commendable.

A feature of the evening was an exhibition drill by the cadets, which was precise and well rendered, and the boys were warmly applauded.

The opening number on the program was a fine selection by the A. G. Cadets brass band, Phyllis Champagne, director, and this was followed by a few remarks by Major Lamoureux, who thanked the large gathering for their presence, and announced the rules of the whist contest.

The card game was then played and at the close of the tournament several handsome prizes were awarded the winners. The judges being: Rev. Charles Denzil, O. M. L., Capt. Albert Bergeron, Garde Frontenac; First Lieut. Louis St. Jean, Garde d'Honnore; Private J. Herreker, Garde Jacques-Cartier, and Henri Hardy.

The band gave more selections and a variety of vocal and instrumental selections was rendered. Rev. Jerome Bliss, O. M.

CONDITION OF POPE
PIUS X UNCHANGEDPontiff Passed a Comparatively
Calm Night — Occasionally
Disturbed by Coughing

ROME, April 10.—The condition of Pope Pius X was said to be practically unchanged when his physician, Prof. Ettore Marchisiani, paid him an early morning visit today. He had passed a comparatively calm night, although disturbed occasionally by fits of coughing and a period of great perspiration at about midnight. The pope's spirits were cheered by bright weather but he continued to feel some nausea and was averse to taking nourishment, notwithstanding the efforts of his own cook, Stefano Incestrato, who came with him from Venice. Prof. Marchisiani said after his morning visit that he considered the unchanged conditions as on the whole favorable for the patient.

The only specific apprehension is heart weakness.

Dr. Amici, who spent the night at the pope's bedside, said this morning that his patient rested sufficiently well. His temperature is now a little above 98.

Dr. Amici denied the persistent reports that the pope is suffering from nephritis and reiterated that the whole trouble is a relapse from his recent attack of influenza.

In all the churches of Rome this morning special prayers were offered for the recovery of the pope and the congregations recited with the clergy the "Oremus Pro Pontifice Nostro."

Dr. Amici said today that he hopes by next week Pius X would be convalescent. An entirely contrary opinion, however, is expressed by some of those immediately surrounding the pope, who depict the situation as grave. They assert that as a result of an examination made by a specialist the presence of from ten to twelve degrees of albumen was proved.

CAR BARN BIDS OUT

Specifications for the Foundation Complete

Mr. Moffatt, who is in charge of the construction of the new car barns of the Bay State Street Railway Co. in Middlesex street today announced that the plans and specifications have been prepared so as to be ready for bids on the part of the contractors. It is expected that the number of those who will bid for the contract will be large.

As yet the digging of the foundation for the new structure is incomplete and at the present time there are about 50 men at work in the excavation and the work is progressing rapidly. The extent of the excavation for the foundation is great and the laying of the masonry work of the building will be a big job.

One of those in charge said that those bidding on the job will be allowed one week to get their bids in and start to work and he expressed the opinion that the entire cement and masonry portion of the construction work should be finished in a week. The contract will be awarded in a few days.

LIEUT.-GOV. WALSH

Spoke at Dedication of a New Parochial School Addition in Lawrence Last Evening

The recent addition to the parochial school of St. Patrick's in South Lawrence was formally dedicated last evening with Lieut.-Gov. David I. Walsh as the guest of honor of the occasion. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive and attended by a large gathering. The lieutenant governor was introduced by Rev. John J. Gilday, pastor of St. Patrick's parish. He addressed the gathering in his eloquent manner. Among the other speakers were Michael E. Cronin, Esq., and Miss Ellen L. Tore, the latter on behalf of the women of the parish. The new addition greatly amplifies the school and adds much to the convenience and comfort of the growing number of pupils.

BOSTON, April 10.—A strike of the 2200 telephone operators in the 54 central exchanges of Greater Boston which has been threatened for the past few days was averted, it is believed, by an agreement reached early today. The agreement is the result of a compromise.

It was arrived at after a series of intermittent conferences lasting thirty hours between President Spaulding and other officials of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., the executive committee of the operators' union and a committee from the Boston chamber of commerce which acted as intermediary.

Although the girls' committee subscribed to the agreement, formal ratification by the mass of operators is necessary. Meetings will be held tomorrow for this work.

Instead of the weekly wage increases averaging $1 each, which the union demanded, the agreement provides for the establishment by the plan of anniversary payments to its women operators in the Boston Metropolitan district. These payments, according to the agreement, are to be $25 at the end of the second year, $50 at the end of the third year, and thereafter up to and including the ninth year; and $100 at the end of the tenth year and each year thereafter.

The so-called split trick, the abolition of which was demanded, will be compulsory upon any operator after 18 months' service.

Lunch Period Extended

The lunch period will be extended to one hour and the girls "will have the maximum number of holidays, Sundays and Saturday afternoons off that is consistent with the requirements of the service." These concessions are effective June 1.

The agreement also provides for the creation of an adjustment committee consisting of three operators and three representatives of the company, which is to consider all grievances. An appeal may be had to the general manager or to the president of the company. This committee will be established April 21. The conference was weary when the understanding finally was completed. President James Storow of the chamber of commerce, after sitting as an informal court over earlier conferences at which both sides argued the matter, later acted as messenger in carrying proposals, first from one side and again from the other.

Fall Asleep Standing

The girls remarked during a walk through the hotel corridors that they were "ready to fall asleep standing up." The men were heavy lidded and almost dozing. It was 5.30 when the settlement was reached. Then the company provided taxi-cabs to send its erstwhile prospective strike leaders to their homes, after President Spaulding had exhorted the girls from attendance at the strike headquarters.

Before going, the girls declared "we have won," and were not contradicted by company officials who were standing nearby. In behalf of President Spaulding, E. K. Hall, vice president of the company, said: "The adjustment is mutually satisfactory." Both sides stated that the result was due largely to the good offices of the chamber of commerce, Mayor Fitzgerald, and the state board of conciliation and arbitration. They had interested themselves in preventing a strike when it seemed that the city's business life would be crippled by a suspension of its telephone service.

"The moment a strike was threatened the company followed its first duty and called on its reserve operators to protect its service," said Mr. Hall. "The minute that was done we set down to discuss the questions at issue. The conference was carried on with the best of good nature."

The company today had nearly 1200 so-called emergency operators in the city, quartered at the most luxurious hotels, awaiting the strike call.

They came from many cities of the east including New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Jersey City, Pittsburgh and New England cities. One delegation of 200 girls was on the way from Chicago when the agreement was reached. Mr. Hall said that the girls would be kept here for several days longer, during which time the company is to entertain them on sightseeing trips and theatre and dancing parties. It is costing the company about $5000 a day to support this reserve force.

SEN. STILLWELL FACES ACCUSER
ITS 27TH ANNIVERSARYIs Charged With Soliciting Bribe to Kill a Bill—Was on the Stand Today

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—Senator Stillwell, charged with soliciting a bribe to kill a bill relating to the American Bank Note Co. from T. R. Kendall of New York, was on the stand today when the investigation was continued and in his course cross-examined Mr. Kendall.

Standing in front of his accuser he fired question after question at Kendall in rapid succession. The latter apparently was not disturbed by the procedure.

Attorney General Carmody first questioned Kendall concerning a communication from Kendall to Stillwell on March 20, the day after the hearing before the senate codes committee on the bank note company's bill. In this Kendall stated that at the hearing J. G. Milburn, Jr., appearing for the New York stock exchange filed a brief in opposition to the measure and requested opportunity to file a brief also. This is the first time this communication had been mentioned at the hearing. Stillwell and other members of the committee claimed that one of Stillwell's letters to Kendall in which the writer said he would be at his office if Kendall wanted to see him about a brief, related to this brief filed by Milburn. Kendall, on the other hand has indicated that he understood it as a willingness on Stillwell's part to talk over a money consideration for advancing the legislation.

Mr. Carmody also brought out that Stillwell on Feb. 13 gave Kendall a book containing the names of the members of the assembly and the senate and senate committee assignments with the personal of the senate and assembly codes committees. Stillwell cross-examined his accuser about the minutest details of the transaction, which took place in the senate codes committee room with an evident intention of bringing forth information concerning the "fifteen is the correct number" telegram which he sent to Kendall. Kendall has maintained this telegram referred to the amount of money which he says Stillwell demanded of him to get the bill out of the assembly committee. Stillwell has asserted that it referred to the number of members on the codes committee. Stillwell also claimed that he was mistaken in the number of committeemen and later sent a letter informing Kendall there but 13 members and naming them.

PUPILS GO ON STRIKE

200 Left School Because Principal
Was Deposed By Board of Education

TARRYTOWN, April 10.—More than 200 children in the Elmford school went on strike yesterday because the board of education deposed Principal William J. Gleason and engaged C. M. Kline in his place. Nearly 100 pupils marched Tuesday night to the home of William Bunsel Meyer, chairman of the board, where the meeting was held, to express their disapproval. They were not allowed in and got revenge by breaking several windows in the house. Then they broke into the schoolhouse and rang the bell.

When school opened yesterday morning the children told Mr. Gleason they would not return to school until he was re-engaged. They formed into companies and marched through the village streets chanting "We want Gleason." The truant officer wisely went to New York yesterday and the children were unmolested. The Aqueduct police had to disperse them. Chairman Meyer says he intends to ask warrants for at least a dozen children.

ANTI-TAMMANY LEADERS

Request Wilson Not to Recognize Murphy

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Wilson was formally requested today by anti-Tammany leaders of the New York state democracy not to recognize Tammany in federal appointments. They explained that their organization needed the moral support of the administration in its fight for progressive principles. They went away feeling that the president would go down in the matter of making out his appointment list and that it would be some time before there would be any indication of what the president's attitude might be.

and Now Has Its Quarters at 233 Central street

The members of Ladd & Whitney Post, 185, G. A. R., are making great preparations for the celebration of the 27th anniversary of the organization of the post. The affair will be held at the post's quarters on April 16, and promises to be an event in the history of this military body.

Among the guests will be Adjutant General Gardner W. Pearson, Major James E. O'Donnell, the captains of all the local military companies, the national chaplain of the G. A. R. from Lawrence, and several other prominent men in military circles.

An entertainment is being prepared for the occasion and a pleasant evening is assured for those who will attend.

Meetings were at first held in the Knights of Pythias hall in Merrimack street and later in Post 120 hall in the Mechanics bank building. After that the post took up its quarters on the top floor of Wyman's Exchange at the corner of Merrimack and Central streets and remained there until the building was remodeled when new quarters were taken in the Cook & Taylor Co.'s building at 233 Central street, where the meetings are held at the present time.

The officers of the post are the following: John H. Caverly, commander; J. Adams Bartlett, senior vice commander; Franklin S. Pevey, junior vice commander; Frank Colburn, adjutant; William A. ment

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Refusal of laborers to work on the levee in the vicinity of Memphis has resulted in the break there and probably will be responsible for a more serious situation along the lower Mississippi in the immediate future, in the opinion of Major Normyle, who reported to the war department that "indolence and laziness are the serious factors to contend with."

SALISBURY IN UTOPIA

Over the Holdup in the Granting of Liquor Licenses, Which Selectmen
Refuse to Grant

HAVERHILL, April 10.—The selectmen of Salisbury have held up the liquor license which were expected April 1. It is alleged they will refuse to grant licenses until the supreme court decides the constitutionality of the act under which the beach property was seized.

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon, and called ostensibly for the purpose of approving bills Mayor O'Donnell announced that he had received from the city engineer certain comparative figures for the work of paving done in 1911 and 1912. The figures showed that it cost the city of Lowell nearly 50 per cent. more to do paving during the first year of the new government, when Commissioner Brown had charge of the department of streets and highways, than it did under the form of government. Commissioner Brown was not present at today's meeting. The figures prepared by the city engineer and read by the mayor showed that in 1911 the amount of paving totaled $2,803.55 square yards, and the cost of the work was $72,228.40. The amount done there were 423.40 square yards of old granite blocks used, which had been re-cut, while the remainder of 17,544.55 square yards were new blocks.

In 1912 the total cost of paving 22,321.11 square yards was $100,122.81. Although the cost was about $27,000 more, the cost of the work was $72,228.40. The cost of material very much. In that year there were used 11,425.61 square yards of re-cut granite blocks, while the square yards of new blocks was 10,895.50.

Considering the fact that so many more old blocks were laid down, and taking into account the extra added cost of $27,000 for the work, the mayor felt that the increase in the cost of paving in 1912 was fully 50 per cent. over the previous year. The precise cost per yard in each case had not been figured out.

Repair Fairmount Street

On motion of Commissioner Cummings it was voted to authorize the superintendent of streets and highways to give his attention to Fairmount street as he can within his appropriation, to repair it in Fairmount street. The present road-way in that street is said to be in very bad shape.

The council voted to appropriate the sum of $100 to be spent by the superintendent on the Turner farm and on the work of carrying on the work of decorating the graves of G. A. R. veterans. The appropriation was made at the request of Lucius A. Derby, who talked with the mayor concerning it, and explaining that the time was fast approaching when the sons of veterans would have to shoulder the work of caring for the graves as the veterans will soon be unable to look after them.

Commissioner Cummings asked for and received authority from the council to make requisition on the purchasing agent for 50,000 hard-burned bricks for sewers and about 500 barrels of cement.

Public Library

Commissioner Cummings called attention to the fine work being done in the children's department of the public library and suggested to the mayor that he look into the matter and see if more money is necessary for the extension of the work. He said if more money is required it should be forthwith. The mayor said he would call the attention of the trustees to the matter.

The mayor spoke of claims submitted prior to Dec. 31, 1912, and asked the council's pleasure relative to a date for a hearing. It was finally decided to set a date later.

Macadamizing Streets

An order for the macadamizing of the following streets was passed: Walker street, Middlesex street to Grove street; Bowers street, Fletcher street to Mt. Vernon street; Rogers street, Boylston street to Butman road; Gorham street, Coggeswell street to city line; June street, Twelfth street to Thirteenth street; Knapp avenue; Bridge street, Ludlum street to city line; Third street, Hilditch street to Fremont street; Chalmers street, Midland street to Victoria street.

Also that the above named streets be constructed with bitumen and the expense of the appropriation for macadamizing streets.

An order to pave the following streets with grouted granite blocks, was passed: Bridge street, Central bridge to north line of Sixth street; Gorham street, Elm street to Davis square; Plain street, Chalmers street to N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. bridge; Pawtucket street, School street, westerly to old block pavement.

THEIR GRUESOME FIND

Three Lawrence Boys
Found Suicide's Body

LAWRENCE, April 10.—Three boys, Gordon Ray, Ernest Hadley and Carl Major of Salem, N. H., made a gruesome discovery Wednesday afternoon when they came across the dead body of a man hanging by the neck from a beam in a woodshed connected with a school building in that town. The school house is known as No. 7 or the "dark entry" school house, and on the Pelham road leading from Salem and about three miles from Salem Centre. On account of the small number of pupils in the district the school has been closed and the scholars have been transported to another school.

Wednesday the three boys were about to attend the "orchard demonstration" on the Turner farm and went to the shed to leave some packages when they found the body hanging there.

The selectmen were notified and they in turn notified Medical Referee Dearborn of Derry, N. H., and later the body was removed to the town hall, where it was viewed by Dr. Dearborn. The body was that of a man apparently about 35 years old. He wore an ordinary business suit and the clothing bore the stamp of a Haverhill clothing dealer. Up to a late hour Wednesday night he had not been identified and was apparently a stranger in the community, though Rural Mail Carrier William J. Gale thinks that he saw him a few days ago in the vicinity of the school building, where the body was found.

It was the opinion of Medical Referee Dearborn that it was undoubtedly a case of suicide and that the man had been dead two or three days, perhaps more.

While there is unusual activity being manifested in the family of local Elks, because of their anniversary observance to be held tonight, an event of a similar nature in which a Lowell man is being honored is soon to take place in dear old Georgia.

Commissioner Cummings called attention to the fine work being done in the children's department of the public library and suggested to the mayor that he look into the matter and see if more money is necessary for the extension of the work. He said if more money is required it should be forthwith. The mayor said he would call the attention of the trustees to the matter.

Children and the Burros in Glorious Colorado

"One of the happiest remembrances of my youth," wrote a Chicago man, "is the month I spent in Colorado as a youngster with my burro. Many a joyful jaunt I had with that shaggy, little wise-eyed fellow, with the patience of Job and the loving wisdom of the centuries, and what delightful adventures we had in the flowery dellys and on the sun-checked, pine-lapined trails of that wonder State! Since then it has always seemed to me that nothing more delightful can happen to a boy or girl than to be turned out-of-doors in Colorado with a burro."

It is a fact that nothing can be more beneficial to your children than the out-of-doors life they lead in Colorado. Summer there is ideal—and nowhere can you and your family spend a few weeks more comfortably and at more reasonable cost than in Colorado.

Look ahead to the vacation that's coming. I'd like to help you decide on when and where and how to go. I have all the information here in my office to help you—Hotel and boarding-house rates and a mighty readable book on Colorado with maps and pictures and full details. Call or write for this book and let me tell you about the new low price excursion tickets to Colorado.

SOCIETY WOMEN

Some Spend Hundreds of Dollars a Year on Their Hair

Leaders of society in New York know the social value of attractive hair, and according to a metropolitan newspaper every society woman spends a great deal of money to keep her hair beautiful and resplendent.

These women employ highly paid hair dressers and specialists, and as long as they have the money to gratify their desire for beautiful hair, none should complain.

But what about the thousands upon thousands of women just as intelligent, just as refined, and just as lovable as society women, who have not the means for expert hair dressers and specialists?

What are they to do?

Are they to be entitled to beautiful, lustrous and luxuriant hair?

Most assuredly they are, and thousands of them give thanks daily to the great scientist who puts within their reach, at small price, the marvelous and quick acting hair tonic known all over America as Parisian Sage.

A large bottle of Parisian Sage costs but 50 cents. It will make any woman's hair grow thicker, more beautiful and more lustrous in a few weeks.

It cures dandruff by killing the microbe that causes it. It cures itching scalp, keeps falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. Get a bottle while it's on your mind. It is a most pleasant hair dressing, and is not sticky or greasy.

FINE SERMON ON DEATH

Delivered by Fr. Keaney at St. Patrick's

The fourth sermon in the series during this week's mission for men at St. Patrick's church was preached last evening by Rev. Fr. Keaney, S. J., and his subject was "Death." The sermon followed the usual instructions and recitation of the beads and the services closed with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The discourse was delivered in a most impressive as well as forcible manner by the eloquent preacher.

Fr. Keaney dwelt particularly upon the certainty of death and upon the importance of preparing one's self for it, not at the last moment but from the first instant of reason and understanding of its significance. In other words, he said that a man's whole life should be a preparation for death and his final end. Our Blessed Lord said that as men live so shall they die, and thus the preacher strove to impress upon his congregation in laying particular stress upon the necessity of preparation of every man for his last hour. Following the worldly pursuits and engaged in worldly interests men will become careless and lax in the consideration of death and the life to come.

The certainty that every living thing is destined one day to die is so obvious and so unmistakable that it is the strongest motive to keep one from offending God. It is more forcible than any other of the solemn truths. This motive is made even stronger by the thought that although death is universal, it is not the end of everything material, which now teaches in life is destined to die, yet the time, manner and place of the final taking off of man is most uncertain. Our Lord in the holy word was constantly repeating the necessity of watching and being ready; for "we know not the day nor the hour when we shall be called upon to give an account of our stewardship."

The hope of last night's sermon, preached by our Lord's great sermon on death as related in the 12th chapter of St. Luke. In this he describes the man who is most successful and constant in attending to his worldly affairs but neglected that all-important matter, the salvation of his soul.

The sermon this evening will be delivered by Fr. Keaney, and the subject will be "Judgment." Tomorrow night the subject of the sermon will be "The Mercy of God." On Sunday afternoon the beautiful ceremony of the blessing of the robes will take place at 4 o'clock in St. Patrick's church. Sunday night will see the close of the mission with an impressive service and a final exhortation sermon on perseverance in the good work started at the mission.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

MAYOR WANTS EVERYBODY TO GET BUSY

And Assist in General Spring Cleaning—Little Polish Girls to Parade and Sell Nougats

Lowell is to have a "clean-up" week. The mayor will issue a proclamation within a short time to the people of Lowell with reference to a general cleanup throughout the city and he believes that Lowell will look her very best at the end of the week. The board of health will make arrangements for the big event and the men of the hour during the week of general cleaning will be the knights of the rake and hoe.

The Polish Falcon
The Polish Falcon is an association devoted to the social and educational betterment of the people and is doing a great work. A very charming Polish girl called at the city hall this forenoon to see the mayor. She didn't meet the mayor, but she met another big man, the mayor's private secretary. Her request was to have the mayor sanction a parade of little girls of the Polish Falcon on May 2. "The little girls will be dressed in white and will wear red and blue sashes. They will sell nougats and ribbons and the money secured in this way will go to help out the work of the association."

Wameest Power Co.
The Wameest Power Co. has obtained a permit for the addition of a fourth story to a three story building in Lawrence street. The story will be 50 by 55 feet and the estimated cost of the addition and alterations is $4500.

The Mayor Busy
Mayor O'Donnell will be a very busy man for the next few days. On Saturday night of the present week he will attend a meeting of the U. S. Hunting Cricket club. On Monday night he will, by invitation, attend the concert of the musicians' union. On the 15th of the month he will attend the master builders' banquet, the railroad trainmen's entertainment in Lincoln hall, exercises of Ladd & Whitney post, G. A. R. in its hall, and the entertainment of street railway men in the Runnels building.

Awnings and Signs
The mayor will communicate with all awning and sign makers in the city, calling their attention to the city ordinances governing the putting up of signs and awnings over the sidewalks, as the work of getting awnings and signs in shape for the summer months will begin within a short time.

Another Suit Against the White Star Line

NEW YORK, April 10.—Among the related suits against the White Star line for death claims growing out of the Titanic disaster is that of Mrs. Marcelle Navratil of France, mother of the two Titanic waifs, Momo and Lolo, rescued from the waves and protected by Miss Margaret Hayes of this city. The suit was filed yesterday and asks $30,000 for Navratil's death. Because the widow, now in France, is in dire poverty, the Hayes family has assisted her financially.

BODY FELL TO TRACKS

Man Shot Himself on Bridge

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 10.—August F. Simon of this city, a wealthy dealer in dyestuffs and chemicals, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head while standing on a bridge spanning the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks. BOARD OF ARBITRATION

Postponed Deliberation on Railroad Cases

NEW YORK, April 10.—The board of arbitration which is hearing the evidence of the managers of the 52 eastern railroads and their firemen today postponed until tomorrow deliberation upon the evidence submitted to them at the recent hearings in the case. W. W. Atterbury, representing the railroads was unable to be present. The board has until April 23 to render a decision. Judge W. C. Chambers, chairman of the board, said today that the nine demands of the firemen would be considered one by one with a view to determining first those upon which both sides agreed. Those uneliminated by this method would be taken up next.

"In some cases it may be that both sides will agree that a demand should be referred," said Judge Chambers. "In others that it should be granted. Where there is a disagreement we hope to reach a conclusion which while it may not be wholly satisfactory to either side will be such that both sides will concede it is best conclusion under the circumstances." Beginning tomorrow the board will hold sessions daily.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON

General Opening of 1913 Season
in Both Leagues Today—One
Game Postponed

NEW YORK, April 10.—With games scheduled in seven cities, major league baseball gave its real start for the season of 1913 today. Brooklyn and Philadelphia broke the ice yesterday in a game advanced from the schedule to provide an opening attraction for Brooklyn's new park. The afternoon 12 other teams get into action and start the pennant race in earnest. Unless adverse weather prevents, every team in both the National and American leagues with the exception of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Nationals will have tested its mettle against a league contender before tonight. The Pittsburgh contest here is postponed until Saturday because of the grounds at Cincinnati, drenched by flood and the recent rains were still too wet for play. East meets east and west struggles with west in both leagues as usual on opening days. In the National Brooklyn shifts to Philadelphia, Boston plays in New York and St. Louis in Chicago.

For the American league, Philadelphia in Boston, New York in Washington, Chicago in Cleveland and Detroit in St. Louis is the order.
Points in the initial day's play which fans in various sections of the country will watch with special interest are the showings of clubs with new managers. Evers in Chicago, Stallings in Boston and Miller Higgins in St. Louis represent the new managerial blood in the older leagues, which figures in the day's battles. In the American league Frank Chance in New York, Birmingham in Cleveland and Stovall in St. Louis are beginning their respective tasks of building up run-down clubs or trying to land pennant-winners.
Locally a big day is promised for the Giants when they meet the Boston Nationals at the Polo grounds. While the Braves are not a prime attraction here the opening day features are expected to bring out a large crowd. Tanager is the probable occupant of the box for New York and Perdue for Boston.

TEXTILE SCHOOL WON

Defeated the Middlesex
Team at Baseball

The Lowell Textile school baseball team traveled to Belmont yesterday and defeated the Middlesex school team in their first diamond contest of the season by the score of 10 to 3.
The Moody street boys were superior in all departments of the game. Although both teams played a rather close game the Textile team showed promise of developing into a first-class aggregation before the close of the school playing season. The pitching of Brickett and Davison were the features.
The score by innings:
Textile 1 0 0 5 0 0 0 10
Middlesex 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 3
Summary: Two base hit: Brickett. Three base hit: Davidson. Sacrifice: Davidson. Field: O'Brien. Double play: Cleary and Carlson. Stolen bases: Cleary 2, Ross, Lawson, Carlson, Frank. In bases on balls: Brickett 1, by Walworth 2, by Mitchell 2. Struck out: By Davidson 5, by Brickett 7, by Walworth 2, by Mitchell 1, by Little 2. Hit by pitched ball: Shedd by Little.

PRINCIPALS ARE READY

at Lowell A. C.

The members of the Lowell A. C. are showing great interest in the Tommy Flanagan Philly McGovern bout which will be staged at their rooms tomorrow evening, and indications point to a crowded house. The two men are popular here and each has a host of friends. Both are training hard and their managers say that they are in the best of condition and ready to put forth their best efforts. Both come here with good records and a line of their comparative merits may be obtained by the fact that both men met Johnny Munice of Charlestown, and each stayed the limit. In the bout between McGovern and Munice a draw decision was given after twelve hard rounds, while Flanagan was awarded the decision over the Charlestown boy, after twelve rounds were fought. The semi-final between Johnny Cooper of Boston and Young Morgan of Manchester is one that should prove interesting and exciting. The two boys met last week and their exhibition was one of the best seen here this season. Morgan is a very clever boy, and boxes excellently. Cooper is more of a fighter, but the doubtless he will have many over as the other fellow, his blows have more of a sting. Cooper and Morgan are in great condition and ready to put up a slashing bout. Kid Hamilton and Tom Williams, who are scheduled in the "extra prelim" last week, will meet again tomorrow night, and each is confident that he will be returned the winner. Flossie Boyle and Young Dufrey will furnish the other six round number.

LOWELL BOY WRITES

Alphonse R. Racicot, Now Employed on U. S. S. Pittsburg, is Stationed at Bremerton, Washington
Alphonse R. Racicot of this city and now a seaman aboard the U. S. S. Pittsburg, and stationed at Bremerton, Wash., wrote to a Lowell friend telling him of his experiences along the Pacific coast. The letter is very interesting and with it was a fine photograph of the young seaman taken aboard the ship. The young man states he is well and enjoying the sea life, and expects to come to Lowell in a short time. He also wishes to be remembered to all his Lowell friends.

ROCHAMBEAU COUNCIL

Will Celebrate Its Tenth Anniversary on April 23—Grand Officers Will Attend

The members of Rochambeau council, R. A. held an annual meeting at their quarters in C. M. A. C. hall last evening. Regent Lorenzo Gouin occupied the chair and considerable business was transacted. Two applications for membership were received, and it was decided to observe the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the council, and for this purpose the entertainment committee was called upon and instructed to prepare a program for the event.

The affair will be held at the C. M. A. C. hall on the evening of April 23, and will be for members of the Royal Arcanum only. Invitations will be sent to several of the grand officers in Boston and it is believed that many will respond favorably. The past regents of the council will also be present. An entertainment program will be supplied and a luncheon will be served.

Saco-Lowell League Game

There was only one match game reported from the local leagues last night. That of the Office and Shop teams in the Saco-Lowell bowling league. The Office bowlers proved too strong for their opponents and won the contest by the score of 1232 to 1224. The winning team was high three string man with a mark of 272, while the highest single of 59 went to Kate. The score in detail is as follows:
Office—Hammond, 254; Farrell, 249; Hale, 253; Pilkington, 272; Baker, 264; total, 1232.
Shop—Sterling, 255; Grant, 247; Soule, 242; Blanchard, 209; Sharpe, 250; total, 1210.

Live Bits of Sport

As earlier predicted, through this column, Halsten will be kept at first base and Miller will be back at second. To change these two men from their most effective positions would seem to be the reduction in the defensive value of the team. Halsten played first base throughout his college baseball career and, although Miller is undoubtedly a good man at the initial bug he has not had the experience at first that he has had at the pivotal position. These two men are expected to aid Manager Gray materially in perfecting a smooth working baseball machine this year.

Whatever may be said about Dee it is certain that the diminutive shortstop is a game little ball player, and that he is not on the job until the last out of his team has been made. Whether or not he can beat out Smoyer for his old job, we would not be able to judge. But it is certain that he will be right there with the aggressive spirit which makes a player a valuable asset to a manager.

Ty Cobb is still an unsigned member of the Tiger outfit. He is barnstorming the southern states with a team which he has gathered around him and has made half a season's salary so far according to reports from the towns where he has exhibited himself. That is about all there is to his scheme for his ball club is only a mediocre one and the only reason that a crowd is attracted to the grounds is because the great Cobb is to be seen in action. From what President Navin of the Detroit team says, Ty is no nearer getting the $15,000 that he was at the start of his holdout stunt. Navin says that he has got to develop a team from recruits this year anyway and does not much care whether "the Georgia peach" signs up or not.

With Pete Clemens back in the Lowell lineup the locals will be greatly strengthened in the outfield. Clemens is just about as fast as we see them when it comes to beating out a bunt or traveling around the circuit. His experience with the Milwaukee team during the past few weeks should have put him in the pink of condition for the opening of the New England league season and he should start out with a much faster stride this year than he has ever shown at the beginning of any season.

There were eight errors marked up against the two teams in the Lowell Textile-Middlesex school game yesterday. This is quite a large number of misplays for one game even if it be an early season contest, but it does not reach the total of errors chalked up for the New York university ball club the other day. In the game referred to the score handed out was a sheet with 19 errors thereon, every man except the right fielder having one or more errors. The right fielder had no chances.

The Red Sox wound up their pre-season games by defeating Holy Cross yesterday afternoon at Fenway Park. "Buck" O'Brien and Ray Collins were the box artists for the world's champions and had everything "that was necessary in the line of slants and speed." The score was 8 to 1. Holy Cross scoring her only run in the third inning on two clean hits, one of them for two bases. Larry Gardner carried off the batting honors with the singles to his credit.

Henry Meyers, last year's Toronto star outfielder, lost the game for Brooklyn yesterday in their opener with the Phillies. He booted the ball twice and let in the only run of the game in the first inning when he muffed Magee's fly and allowed Knabe to score. It was his first big league commission and the nervousness that he displayed yesterday will no doubt wear off after he has connected a couple of times with the ball. The Superbers expect to make a good man out of the youngster.

ing in the percentage column and this game will decide the championship trophy of the league. With fair weather or conditions the largest attendance has been witnessed a game this season is looked for at Glen Essex next Saturday.

PHILLY MCGOVERN

BROOKLYN BOXER ARRIVED HERE TODAY

Will Meet Tommy Flanagan at Lowell A. C. Tomorrow Evening—"Terrible Terry" to Act as Second

Philly McGovern, the Brooklyn boxer who meets Tommy Flanagan in the main bout at the Lowell A. C. tomorrow evening arrived in town today. He dropped into The Sun office with his manager, Harry McCormack. He says that he is in the pink of condition. With "Fodge" Murphy and his trainer he will complete his work at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. He also stated that his brother, Harry N. Flanagan, who held the lightweight title for several years, will be here tomorrow evening, and will act as his second in the bout.

LOWELL-LAWRENCE SOCCER GAMES

The final game of the Lowell-Lawrence Soccer league will be played on Saturday, however, the Andover United team and Manchester Light Blues. These teams are at present tied for first place with an even standing in the percentage column and this game will decide the championship trophy of the league. With fair weather or conditions the largest attendance has been witnessed a game this season is looked for at Glen Essex next Saturday.

ORDINANCE IS APPROVED

Restriction as Regards Buildings in Lewiston is Ruled Upon by Judge Savage

LEWISTON, Me., April 10.—Judge Savage of the supreme court yesterday approved an ordinance passed in March by the city council forbidding the erection in future of any building on either side of Main street, from Blake street to the North Bridge, or on Lisbon street, than three stories in height, the same from Main to Cedar, which will be less than three stories in height, the same to be constructed of fireproof material. The ordinance was the result of the recent erection of a single-story building on Lisbon street.

Third annual, Lincoln, Fri. eve.

BANQUET OF THE O. M. I. CADETS

Ninth Anniversary of Organization
Observed in Y. M. C. I. Hall
Last Night

The eighth annual banquet of the O. M. I. Cadets was held last night at the club rooms of the Y. M. C. I. in Stackpole street, and the occasion was also the celebration of the ninth anniversary of the organization. There was no end to the enjoyment and fun. Fr. Sullivan and his boys voted the affair the best ever.

The cadets first went through their drills in the school hall to the great satisfaction of Military Instructor McArde and Major Francis Haggerty. After the drill they marched down upon and laid siege to the banquet hall, the inmates of which soon surrendered and threw open the doors to them. Then began the great event of the evening and the sumptuous feast which they sat down to was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Rev. Fr. Sullivan addressed the cadets briefly, outlining the history and work of the organization in the past and commending the members on the earnestness of their spirit. He urged them to continue in the same in the future and to progress continually as they have done in the past so that the city of Lowell will always be proud of her O. M. I. cadets. Fr. Sullivan, who is a great favorite with each and everyone of the boys, was loudly cheered at the conclusion of his speech. The manner in which he cooperates with them in their daily activities, encouraging them, and being continually with them rather as one of them, is their great delight. In this way he reaches their hearts far more effectively and causes them to take pride in the honor of their organization and in the accomplishment of their various duties of instructor, etc. Last evening he devoted his energy to making everyone present happy and succeeding as he did, he was the happiest of all. An excellent entertainment program was carried out, the features of which were piano selections by Cadet John Corbett.

The O. M. I. Cadets have been a remarkable juvenile military organization, having been in existence for nine years and never once in that time has there been shown a lack of interest or depreciation of the standard of the cadets. They are one of the very few such organizations whose good spirit is always the same. Another fact worthy of mention is that these cadets have two sets of uniforms, the dress uniform and the field uniform in which they take great pride. Mr. McArde, the military instructor, is another great favorite with the boys and a great factor in the brilliant success of the organization. Those who assisted Fr. Sullivan and Lieut. McArde last night were the following:

Major Frank Haggerty, Captain Luke McCann, William Haggerty, John Monahan and Charles Fox; First Lieut. Thomas Reginald Cox, Henry O'Dowd, James Lundy and John Sullivan; Second Lieutenants Joseph Tart, William Conroy, Anthony Egan, Owen Conroy and John O'Connell, a former lieutenant of the cadets. Those who assisted in serving were: Miss Mary A. Callahan, Misses Catherine O'Connell, Mary A. Sullivan, Julia Sullivan, Margaret Conroy, Elizabeth Conroy and Robert Whalen, Matthew McCann, John Rogers, John King and John Cole.

400,000 WILL QUIT WORK

Troops in Belgium Prepared for Strike

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 10.—Troops occupied today many of the great industrial centers of Belgium, such as Courtrai, Alost, Mechlin, Louviers, Tournai and Namur in preparation for the general strike for manhood suffrage ordered for Monday when 400,000 or 500,000 men will quit work. In most of the cities large crowds gathered to watch the arrival of the troops and cheered the soldiers as they marched past their regimental bands playing. The socialist strikers offered to the authorities the services of special constables drawn from their own ranks to aid in preserving order.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Wireless advices received at Sable Island today indicate that the steamer France, bearing the body of J. P. Morgan will reach her pier late tomorrow afternoon. Except that Mr. Morgan's body will be borne from the ship to his late town house and that the funeral service will be held at St. George's church on Monday, no details of the ceremonies have been announced by the family.

WHAT WILL THE MARKET BE?

Last Night's Hearing on Petition for Establishment of a Public Market Suggests Question

A hearing on the petition for the establishment of a public market in this city was given by the municipal council at city hall last night. The hearing was attended by representatives of groups in surrounding towns, farmers, produce men, and many others. It was a long drawn out affair, and really didn't amount to very much in the end and especially because of the fact that the speakers were not united and had evidently not talked over the matter very thoroughly in advance. The council was of the belief that the farmers, as a whole, had some definite idea in view, but it turned out that while some of them favored a public retail market, others advocated a public wholesale market. They were united, however, in the belief that some method should be adopted that would secure the security of farmers' earnings and another about the city streets in an effort to sell their produce.

Rep. William D. Taylor, master of the Westford grange, said it was not part of a farmer's name to look up purchasers and he said he was sick of fragmentary business in farming or anything else. "We hear a great deal about having the market," said Mr. Taylor, "and I want to say that if the trusts were obliged to do business the way the farmer is obliged to do business, the trusts would bust of their own accord." Speaking about the farmers going from house to house in an endeavor to sell their produce, Mr. Taylor said the two of the best was often pointed their way and it is wonder, he said, they haven't been arrested for disturbing the peace. He allowed that the establishment of a central market would be of great advantage to the consumer.

Man From Westford

Samuel Taylor, representing the Westford grange, was the first speaker. He said market conditions are most unnecessary for the farmer to leave his goods with charitable institutions. "This is a question of the greatest good to the greatest number," he said. "If it drove other storekeepers out of business, then it would be because the central market would do more good than all the other markets could."

Is Mr. Knight Here?

"Is Mr. Knight here?" asked Mayor O'Donnell. "No, he's probably keeping the night elsewhere," said Mr. Taylor. O'Donnell Greenwood believed that the proper location for a public market would be at the old Tower's corner railway station. He thought farmers might hire stalls or retail their produce from their wagons.

Jesse Trull Speaks

Jesse Trull said he had been running a market wagon for 15 years and felt that a central market is the only thing. His idea would be to have marketmen know where he could be found, so they

Idea of a public market came from foreign lands. There are no stores near to the farmers, and so they bring their produce to one central point where they can dispose of food products as well as cloth, stockings, etc. Where he has been born this condition once obtained, although with the establishment of stores the public market dwindled.

He said that the public market here might eliminate additions to some extent and would mean much to the consumer.

Mr. Cummings said he believed the farmers are better organized than any union men in the city. "Yet get about everything in the state," he said. "You get your roads built."

Men from Tewksbury. "Well, perhaps we do," said Frank Carter of Tewksbury, "but everybody has a chance to use them, and we work for them if we get them."

Geo. W. Trull of Tewksbury said that Worcester is ahead of Lowell, for it has voted to establish a municipal market. Present traffic laws in Lowell make it much harder for the farmer to do business with stores here, he said, and he thought the banks of the Cabot street canal would be an excellent spot for the location of stalls for farmers. He wanted such stalls ready for occupancy six days a week.

Others Heard From. Walter Booth said it would be the best possible thing to have a public market here. If the farmers gathered at a given point the retailers could get just what they wanted in a very short time.

Frank Foster of the Dracut grange said he had been instructed to register his vote in favor of the public market. No action was taken.

TREATS 69 PATIENTS

Dr. Friedmann in Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, April 10.—Before a representative gathering of the medical profession of the state, Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann yesterday injected the vaccine which he claims is a cure for tuberculosis into 69 of the 124 patients at the Wallum Lake Sanatorium, a state institution at Pascoag.

While none of the physicians who witnessed the clinic would make any statement as to their opinions of the curative powers of the treatment, several of them said that they were favorably impressed with the German physician.

FINDS SHERIFF GUILTY

Legislature Votes to Remove L. W. Moulton

AUGUSTA, Me., April 10.—The legislature yesterday voted to send an address to the governor asking for the removal of Sheriff Lewis W. Moulton of Cumberland county for alleged neglect or refusal to enforce the prohibitory liquor law. The vote in the senate was 17 to 12 in favor of removal, and in the house it was 89 to 84.

The action did not come as a surprise. Atty. Pattangall, in arguing the case of the defence, claimed that testimony showed the conditions in Portland from a liquor standpoint were better now than ever before, that pocket peddling and kitchen barrooms had been driven out of business, and that as a rule the brand of enforcement as furnished by Sheriff Moulton was what the people wanted, as was evidenced by his re-election last September.

Atty. Gen. Wilson, in the presentation of the proposition, said that the presence of the liquor behind the bars, the absence of watchers about the places, the large shipments of beer and ale into the city, the faucets and the plate glass mirrors in the resorts, showed that there was an open and flagrant violation of the law. He also argued that the prohibitory law was not on trial, but the question was whether Sheriff Moulton had done his duty.

COLD, RAIN AND COLD

Weather Men Say This Will Be the Hitting Order in Today's Weather Game

BOSTON, April 10.—Weather bureau experts said last night that the chill which yesterday made one shiver on venturing outdoors and caused a suspension of spring planting plans will be temporarily broken this afternoon or tonight by rain, but that cold weather will be back on the job again Saturday.

A minimum temperature of 29 and raw east to northwest winds that reached a velocity of 25 miles set Boston shivering yesterday. But the weather men say that with today's showers will come light to fresh southerly winds that will warm things up a trifle.

Preparations were made yesterday for launching the swanboats of the public garden fleet and within a day or two they will be put in the water for another season. The rowboats up at the public garden, too, have been overhauled. Soon they will be ready again for many a fatherly Harvard crossman to try pulling his first stroke or with his nurse or governess as co-swains.

WILSON TO TAKE STUMP

Will Speak in New Jersey for Jury Reform Bill for Which Special Session Will Be Called

TRENTON, N. J., April 10.—Gov. Fielder announced yesterday that he would call a special session of the legislature to meet on May 5 next, to consider a jury reform bill that is advocated by President Wilson and which failed of passage at the regular session of the assembly that adjourned last week.

Gov. Fielder said President Wilson would come to New Jersey probably the latter part of this month, in an endeavor to create public sentiment in favor of the bill.

Would you eat dried beef in preference to a juicy steak?

No! You would take the steak! The man who wants a sweet, cool, fragrant smoke, prefers plug tobacco to sliced or granulated tobacco, because plug tobacco has more flavor and fragrance.

The real tobacco flavor depends upon the natural moisture in the leaf. The only way to preserve all this flavor is to press the leaves into plug form and keep the moisture in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper.

Tin cans, cloth bags or waxed paper packages do not keep in all the moisture of granulated tobacco. Some of the flavor departs when the moisture evaporates. The drier tobacco is the hotter it smokes—the more it bites your tongue.

With Master Workman Plug you can cut a fresh pipeful whenever you smoke and everytime you will find it the freshest—sweetest—smoothest—coolest tobacco you ever stuffed into a pipe. Try it today and convince yourself. You'll say Master Workman makes a sweet pipe sweeter.

WILL ABATE SMOKE NUISANCE AT DEPOT

Lowell's Smoke Inspector is Doing Good Work—He Finds People Anxious to Co-operate With Him

One of the first acts of Smoke Inspector Riley upon taking office a few weeks ago was to communicate with the superintendent of motive power of the Boston & Maine railroad, Mr. Wignin, relative to the great volume of smoke at or in the vicinity of the Middlesex street depot. Complaints had been received at the office of the smoke inspector and the complainants stated that engineers were in the habit of "coaling up" while the engines were at the depot, or while they passed back and forth through the yard.

As a result of his correspondence with the Boston & Maine authorities, Mr. A. L. Wade, smoke inspector for that company, came to Lowell and remained here for two or three days in order to acquaint himself with conditions.

"Mr. Wade is smoke inspector for all of the nine divisions of the Boston & Maine railroad," said Mr. Riley, "and while he is a very busy man he decided to come to Lowell and ascertain just what the trouble was in this city. After remaining here for two or three days he admitted that there was cause for complaint, but that the trouble was due to a green crew on one of the shifting engines. He went away promising that he would have the matter rectified at once."

"While in Lowell Mr. Wade went with me to the plant of the Lowell Electric Light Co., in Perry street, to view the operation of the Taylor underfeed stokers that are being used there. He allowed that the stokers are all right.

"Everybody seems to be anxious to co-operate with the smoke inspector in abating the smoke nuisance, and there is hardly a plant in the city that has not tried some device intended for that purpose. The Bay State woolen mills are installing Rice's oil generators and they will be given a test next Friday. I will be present when the test is being made."

Bang! Bang! Chickensaws, tonight.

The services will be in the order of a thanksgiving for their delivery from the Turks. No definite plans have as yet been announced by the leaders of the Greek colony.

RUMORS OF IMPROPER INFLUENCE

In Connection With Election of U. S. Senator in New Hampshire Declared Unfounded

CONCORD, N. H., April 10.—The special joint committee of the New Hampshire legislature appointed to investigate rumors of improper influence exerted in connection with the recent election of a United States senator reported to the committee from the senate reported to their branch that no evidence was presented having any reference to their body. The three members of the committee, Ezra Smith of Peterborough, Harold A. Webster of Holderness, progressive, and Albert Demeritt of Durham, democrat, joined in reporting to the lower branch that "there is no evidence that any offer of money or any promise of any other improper consideration whatever has been made to any member of the legislature to influence his vote for or against any candidate for United States senator."

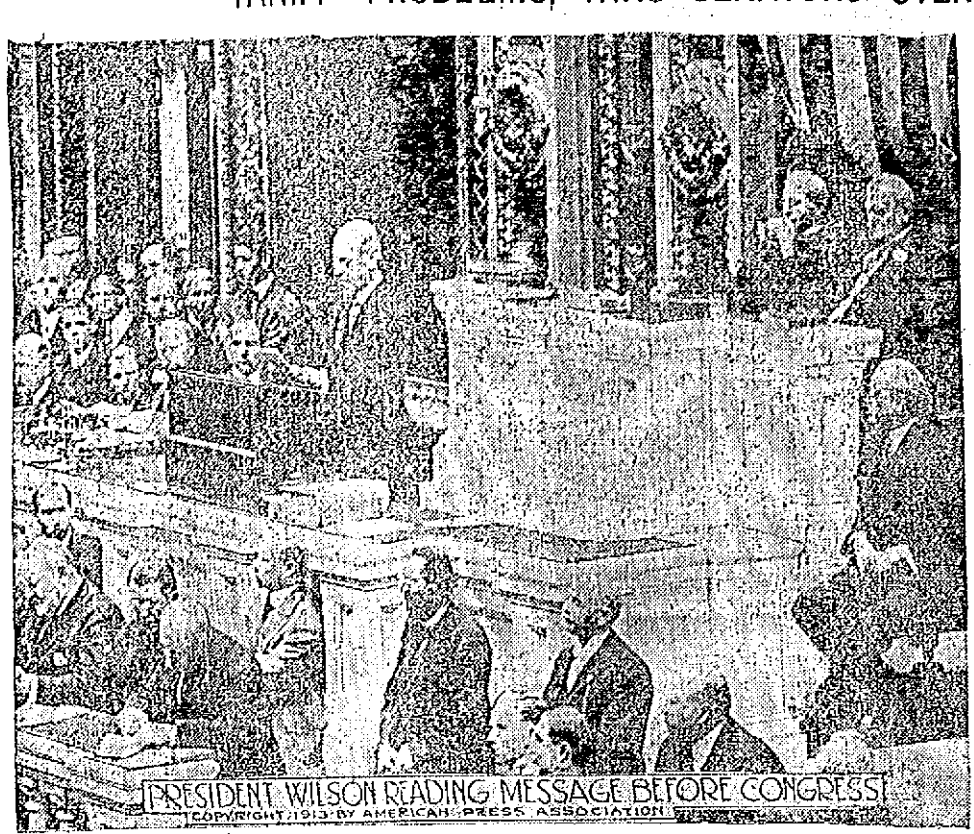

Messrs. Smith or Webster submit a report in which they say that they were directed to find "if any stigma rested upon the reputation of any member of this house or upon the reputation of the house itself," and they find that Rep. Clifford L. Snow of Ward three, Manchester, by offering to sell his vote and influence on various occasions conducted himself in a manner "highly discreditable and disgraceful and constituting a stigma on his own reputation, and that of the house. Wherefore, Messrs. Smith and Webster recommend that he be expelled from membership in the house."

The various reports and an accompanying stenographic transcript of evidence were ordered printed and their consideration set for Wednesday next as a special order.

PRESIDENT WILSON AFTER LONG TALK ON THE TARIFF PROBLEMS, WINS SENATORS OVER

PRESIDENT WILSON READING MESSAGE BEFORE CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, April 10.—In the interest of success for the "democratic" tariff revision bill, President Wilson yesterday stepped over another obstacle in the way of perfect harmony between the White House and the direct forces of congress. For the second successive day he left his own offices in the White House and journeyed to the capitol, this time for an hour and a half conference with democratic members of the senate finance committee.

At its conclusion the president said frankly to newspaper men that he and members of the senate were agreed that nothing stood in the way of harmonious support of the party platform as to tariff revision. The senate situation was canvassed in detail in the conference. The dangers that might threaten a single bill should the opponents of free sugar and free wool combine in sufficient strength to endanger the democratic majority in the senate were discussed, but no agreement was reached that binds the senate leaders to any course.

House Caucus
While the senate conference was in progress the full democratic membership of the house was in caucus at the other end of the capitol discussing the details of the tariff bill, the first schedule of which was agreed to without change.

Representative Underwood, the democratic leader of the house, said at the conclusion of the day's caucus that the tariff revision would go through the house as a single bill. The president again ignored long standing precedent in seeking a legislative conference within the capitol. He met with senators in the president's room, near the senate chamber, where presidents have long come to sign the tariff revision bill. CALLS HARDENBURG A FORGER

LONDON, April 10.—Plunged down to answer definitely "yes" or "no," as to whether in his opinion W. E. Hardenburg, the American civil engineer who first disclosed the Putumayo rubber field atrocities which are said to have cost the lives of hundreds of Peruvian Indians, was a forger, Julius Caesar Arana, former director of the Peruvian Amazon company, after prolonged fencing told the Putumayo investigating committee.

"That is my conviction," Arana also asserted that Hardenburg tried to blackmail the company. The questions were put in connection with an alleged forged bill and an alleged offer by Hardenburg to withhold his information if he were paid $35,000, the value of his lost baggage. Hardenburg was sitting directly behind Arana in the committee room when the accusations were leveled at him.

City Scene of Fierce Rioting When Railway Company Tries to Operate—Traffic Disrupted. BUFFALO, April 10.—Rifle volleys fired in the business streets of the city, and mobs of rioting strikers unawed by rows of fixed bayonets of the state troops marked a day of bloodshed in the strike of the International Railway Company yesterday.

A woman and man were wounded by shots from the troops and a boy received a thrust from a bayonet. The woman was probably the wife of a soldier. The trouble broke out on Niagara street. Half a block from the international bridge the Niagara street car lines pass under an overhead bridge. A gang of rioters carrying heavy timbers rushed upon the bridge as a car was approaching and tried to drop a railroad tie upon it. It missed the car. The rioters were preparing to drop more obstructions on the tracks when a detachment of the 68th regiment ordered them to halt. They jeered at the soldiers. Another warning was given, while the soldiers leveled their rifles. The jeering continued and another piece of timber came over the side of the bridge.

Rifles Crash in Street
"Fire!" came the command. A dozen rifles spat fire. A boy and a woman fell. The crowd, which had rapidly assumed a large proportion, broke at the sound of the rifles and began to chase the street car that had just passed under the bridge. The soldiers followed with fixed bayonets and drove the throng to the curbs. More than one felt the butt of a rifle during the melee and one man received a bayonet thrust in the hand. The sound of this disturbance were Mrs. Ida Lorch, 25 years old, shot in back, fatally injured; Harold Muna, 16 years old, bullet wound in right arm, not serious; Thomas, 27 years old, bayoneted in right hand.

There were several other exchanges of shot between soldiers and strikers without serious results. Traffic on all lines in the city was discontinued at six.

Denies Violating Anti Trust Laws
NEW YORK, April 10.—The Corn Products Refining Co. today filed its answer to the government's dissolution suit. The answer admits that the company is engaged in interstate commerce and that it has violated the laws of the government that anti trust laws were violated or that there was any intention to violate them. It further sets forth that in the absence of any violation as charged by the government the federal district court has no jurisdiction in the matter.

My Buying Power Lowers the Cost of Your Dental Work—I Purchase Material in Quantity and Get the Price.

Because I buy 1000 sets of teeth at a time instead of one or two sets as needed, as the average dentist buys them, I actually can and do sell teeth—high grade teeth—at $10.00 to $15.00 per set, that can not be duplicated elsewhere for less than $20.00 to $25.00 per set.

And these substitute teeth, with their continuous porcelain faces, eliminate that plainly detectable false appearance that is so odious to the wearer. I have had patients tell me (ones who were wearing a plate with which I had fitted them) that they had been seriously complimented many number of times on the soundness and beauty of their teeth.

Anyone who is obliged to wear a plate may have these very satisfactory kind at a substantial saving of money by coming to me. "Why?" do you ask. Because I have put the profession of dentistry on a business basis—I buy my material in quantities, get them at the right price, and then sell them to you the same way.

I am not a "one-set-of-teeth-at-a-time" dentist, as an investigation of my methods and prices will prove to your utmost satisfaction. Come in and see me. I make no charges for examination. Dr. Gagnon, Prop. The Porcelain Dentists "We are Specialists." No. 468 Merrimack street, opposite Tilden.
